VICTIM OF MURDE PREPARED TO D BELIEVES DORSEY

Identification Slip Carried by Mary Phagan in Her Pocketbook Causes Theory That Victim Had Threatened With Violence.

Either threatened with death warned by some dread premonition of an untimely end, Mary Phagan is believed by Solicitor Dorsey to have prepared for her tragic fate by writing the identification slip discovered hidden in a compartment of the metal pocketbook which she carried daily

The slip was given the solicitor Wednesday morning by a reporter for The reporter also The Constitution. made an authorized statement of the source from which it was obtained. It was given him'by J. W. Coleman, step. father of the girl victim.

The slip was written six days be-fore the murder. Her parents have never known her to have possessed such an article. Its presence in her pocketbook is said by them to be as mysterious as her death. Mr. Dorsey values it highly.

Bases New Theory On the Slip.

On it he already has based a plausible theory. Members of his staff have been assigned to investigation of the motive which impelled the slain girl to motive which impelied the stain girl to strive so thoroughly, as she endeavored in the mysterious slip, to establish her identification in case of emorgency. Her parents are puzzled, too. They cannot account for the strange script, and are assisting the solicitor in forreting it out. But little was thought of it until an examination by Mr. Dorew Welchesder member 48 he segured. sey Wednesday morning. As he scanned the typical handwriting of the girl of tragedy, he suddenly exclaimed:

"Looks as though she expected accldent of some kind. By George! she must have. This slip was written only

Continued on Page Six.

VICTIM OF MURDER PREPARED TO DIE

Continued From Page One.

Ix days before she was killed."
The dating was April 20, 1910
Grand Jury Meets The

Crand Jury Meets

Next Week.

The mystery of Mary Phagan's murder will go before the grand jury nost week on either Thursday or Friday. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey made this announcement yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, just after he had finished examining fifty or more witnesses.

The names of Leo M. Frank, super-witnesses.

The names of Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, and Newt Lee, negro night watchman of that plant, will be presented, as ordered by the coroner's jury at tha inquest held last week. Both are in the Tower, to which they were remanded Wednesday, May 7.

The solicitor refused to state whether or not he considered the evidence at hand sufficient to merit a bill of indictment. However, he did declare that, from present prospects, no other name or names would be presented to the jury.

New Evidence Expected.

Asked why he had not submitted the case earlier, Mr. Dorsey said that it required time to arrange the evidence in his possession, sift out the unimportant and prepare the important Eight more days will be occupied in this work. In the meantime, according to the solicitor, new evidence sexpected.

William J. Burns is coming to Atlanta. Thomas B. Felder last night received a cablegram of acceptance from Mr. Burns, who is now in Europe, through his New York office. He will come to this country on the first steamer after hearing from Atlanta.

Placed in Pocketbook.

The identification slip was found in the packetbook which Mary Phagan had carried daily. It was left at home on the day of her disappearance because it would not hold the amount of money she expected to obtain at the pencil plant in which she was slain. She carried the mesh handbag of her sister, Ollie, which has never been found.

The solicitor prizes the land.

amount of money she expected to obtain at the pencil plant in which she was slain. She carried the mesh handbag of her sister, Ollie, which has never been found.

The solicitor prizes the identification slip. It is likely to cast a new aspect on the mystery, he says, and is expected to mearth new evidence. The writing is plain and in the characteristic legible hand of the murdered child. It reads:

"April 20, 1913.

"My name is Mary Phagan.

"I live at 146 Lindsey street, near Bellwood and Ashby streets."

The slip was written only six days prior to her disappearance. It is the solicitor's belief that she probably had been threatened with violence previous to the murder which has startled the entire southland. Either that, or she had experienced a vivid premonition of the tragedy which closed her life.

Unlike a Young Girl.

"It is utterly unlike a girl of her age to prepare means of identification," said the solicitor. "That she vould meet with accident or be killed in any manner undoubtedly never entered her healthy young mind. It is decidedly apparent that something happened beforehand which predicted her death.

"It is possible that her murderer once before threatened to kill her. Perhaps she was warned. She could have received a strong premonition. That she expected death is evident from the placing in her pocketbook of the identification card. It was dated six days prior to the date of her murder. Her, parents say she was never known to possess such things as means of identification."

Added mystery was woven around the case Wednesday by the statement before the solicitor of William Gheesling, an embalmer of Bloomsfield's, the undertaking establishment to which the girl's body was carried from the basement of the pencil plant.

Dend for Many Hours.

Gheesling stated positively his opinion that she had been dead for ten hours, or probably more, prior to the discovery of her body. Rigor mortis had resulted.

Dr. H. F. Harris, of the state board of health, is said to have corroborated Gheesling in his statem

Mr.

Dorsey says, and G

Mr. Dorsey so., 1 obably be summoned grand Jury.
Also it is said that Dr. Harris, who rerformed the autopsy when the body was exhumed at Marietta several days ago, declared that she had been assaulted at the time of her murder. Dr. Harris would not verify the report when seen by a Constitution reporter last night. Neither would he deny it. Sound by the solicitor to say my connection

Gheesling

m J. W. Cole-Phagan girl, o. Mr. Cole-declared

and coning, he that he th which by com

obtained from ther of the P

They were obtained from J. wan, stepfather of the Phaga he said, several days ago. Mi man, stated the reporter, had d that they were genuine samples daughter's script. Althought

Harris would not verify the report when seen by a Constitution reporter last night. Neither would he deny it.

— am bound by the solicitor to say nothing whatever of my connection with his investigation," he said. "Not until my report has been submitted to his office will it be officially known what is the result of my examination.

— Heport Not Yet Submitted.

Mr. Dorsey said that the report had not been submitted, and would not be

Mr. Dorsey said that the report had not been submitted, and would not be put in his hands until he called for it. He also would not tell at which time he will take possession of it.

The Constitution reporter who had charge of the specimens of Mary Phagan's handwriting appeared before the solicitor Wednesday morning, and after turning them over to him, made a stenographic statement of the source of t'e specimens.

They were obtained from J. W. Coleman,

They

man, stated the reporter, had decided that they were genuine samples of daughter's script. Althought it said the solicitor bases a new and evincing theory on the handwriting will not talk. The rumor is that has cliscovered new clews with whe expects to gain evidence by coparison with the handwriting spans.

mens.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.