FAMILY SAYS SHOOTING IS ACCIDENT

Miss Inez Seebing, Leader in Jacksonville's Younger Society Set, Mysteriously Shot.

JACKSONVILLE, July 10.—Mystery to-day surrounds the cause of shooting of Miss Inez Seebing, the 17-year-old society girl who was found in her room Wednesday night with a bullet wound over her left breast. She will recover.

Members of the girl's family claim the shooting was accidental. The first report that went out, however, stated that Miss Seebing had shot herself as a result of dependency over the death of her mother. This was later disputed by members of the immediate family, as well as close friends of the girl, who say it was a case of pure accident.

The shooting caused a sensation in Jacksonville, where the Seebings have long been among the most prominent people, and curious persons went out of their way all during the day to take a look at the Seebing mansion.

Miss Seebing had just returned from a visit to Atlantic Beach, and was supposed to be visiting a friend when the shooting took place. As no members of the family were at home and the servants of the house had gone out for the day, nothing was known of the shooting until several hours afterwards.

The wounded girl when found was rushed to the Deoria Sanitarium, where every medical attention was given to save her life. Although shot just above the left breast chances for recovery this afternoon were said to be good.

A rather curious coincidence is the fact that Wednesday, the day that the near tragedy was the birthday of Miss Seebing.

Miss Seebing is a beautiful girl and one of the most popular of the younger set of Jacksonville society. She is noted for her hospitality among her young friends, whom she counts by the hundreds. Recently her father took her to Atlantic Beach, where a very pleasant ten days was spent in an effort, it is said, to dispel the growing dependency of the girl over her mother's recent death.

The Seebing family is one of the most prominently connected in Jacksonville. W. R. Seebing, the father of the girl, being an extensive real estate operator of this city. Her grandfather, W. H. Seebing, was formerly Mayor of Jacksonville and a Confederate general during the war between the States.

Society Leaders, in Masks, See Risque Paris Play 'Love It'

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
LONDON, July 10.—Wearing of masks by society women who attend risky theatrical productions, but who are ashamed to let their relatives and friends know of it, has come into vogue here.

A large number of women from court circles are daily attending the risqué French show, "I Love It," but all wear masks for fear of the censure of their husbands and of Queen Mary, who has forbidden any of the ladies of her court from entering the Middlesex Theater, where the production is on.

Clergymen are beseeching the censor to close up the theater, declaring it will do harm all who see it because of its gross immorality.

Trainmen Will Not Meet With Wilson To Discuss Strike

NEW YORK, July 10.—Intimation was given here today by W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, and A. D. Garrison, President of the Order of Railway Conductors, that they would not accept the arbitration of President Wilson and Secretary of Labor Wilson in the wage dispute of the trainmen.

A large number of trainmen, who threaten to precipitate 100,000 men in a strike, said they would not meet with Wilson and the Secretary of Labor.

Kentucky Car Strike Spreads; One Dying

LEXINGTON, KY., July 10.—Striking street carmen announced this morning that all employees of the Kentucky Car Company and of the Lexington Utilities Company will be called out to-morrow morning, trying to stop street and interurban car systems here.

Demands will be served to-day for a nine-hour day with pay for ten hours, and reinstatement of nine discharged workmen. Some of the men have been struck since the strike began.

The first violence occurred last Wednesday, when five men were injured in a riot. One of them, J. W. Bell, of Chicago, is dying in a hospital.

Fly Pests Cost U. S. $167,800,000 a Year

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Figured out in money, by way of nothing of the kind, the cost to the United States annually of supporting its fly population amounts to $167,800,000, say Government experts who have been making a study of the results of the term-spreading activities of these insects.

It is estimated that the fly is responsible for an expenditure of $50,000,000 for the handling of tuberculous cases, attributable to germs spread by the pest, while $70,000,000 represents the cost of typhoid fever cases originating in the same way.

50 Grocers Freed From Prosecution

BIRMINGHAM, July 10.—The Government to-day allowed about 50 members of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association to be dropped from further prosecution in the conspiracy hearing going on before Judge W. L. Grubb, of the Federal court, on charges of violating a decree handed down in 1911.

WILL FIGHT TESTIMONY STIRRING

Attorneys for Widow of Capitalist Declare Poison Evidence Will Be Shattered.

A positive statement from Dr. P. H. Harris, of the State Board of Health, that Joshua Crawford died of morphine poisoning instead of pneumonia, the announced cause of his death by the attending physician, Dr. J. W. Hurt, was the sensational development in the Crawford $150,000 will case Thursday.

Dr. Harris was called to the stand at noon. Attorney Reuben Arnold, for Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, the widow, to whom all the estate was left, pinned him to the assertion.

For the first time in his career, he said, he deviated from his custom of merely mentioning possibilities or probabilities.

"There was absolutely no trace of pneumonia or any disease of the lungs," said Dr. Harris. "Morphine poisoning very likely produced death."

Statement Unshaken.

Dr. Harris stood the stand for very nearly an hour, but his statement was unshaken.

No announcement would be made by the attorneys for the heir-at-law, who number more than thirty, but it was confidently understood they would not rest the case with the introduction of Dr. Harris, but would have other experts, and probably members of the family to take the stand in an effort to substantiate the evidence of Dr. Harris.

Attorney Arnold stated that the evidence of Dr. Harris would be torn to pieces when he put Dr. J. W. Hurt on the stand to tell of administering morphine and opium to Crawford in an effort to stop the violent fits of coughing and near congestion of the lungs, which he suffered in the last month of his life.

Widow Not in Court.

He intimated also that he would introduce experts to prove that the quantities of opium and morphine found in Crawford's stomach by Dr. Harris were not sufficient to produce death, nor more than a normal dose administered by the average physician.

Mrs. Crawford, the widow, was not in the courtroom Wednesday when the poison theory was advanced by Dr. Harris, and it was doubtful whether she would attend the hearing Thursday.

Heir-at-law to the estate and their friends attended in large numbers, and despite the fact it is a strictly civil procedure and no court opinion is pending, it had all the appearance and interest of a sensational criminal trial.

Beavers in Speech Warns Policemen to Keep Out of Dives

Chief of Police Beavers caused a stir Thursday morning when he went before the day watch and addressed the men on their conduct. His talk resulted from the recent scandal in which several policemen were found guilty of visiting a resort in the neighborhood of 127 Auburn Avenue.

"Any man who hangs around a negro dive has no place on the police force of Atlanta," the Chief said, addressing the men. "If you see any other officers engaged in discreditable practices and frequenting disreputable places, it is your duty to report it."

The Chief will make a similar speech to the night and morning watches.

Queen of Greece Cables for Chewing Gum for Troops

NEW YORK, July 10.—Bolin G. Newland, of the American Cable Co., received a dispatch from Queen Sophia, of the Hellenes, asking for 500 boxes of chewing gum.

"To make him more certain why chewing gum was so urgently needed, Miss Constantinople, a lady in waiting to the queen, cabled later:

"Chewing gum is against throat."

Mr. Newland cabled $2,000 at once and is about to send the chewing gum.

Congress Prepares For Investigation Of Mulhall Charges

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Congress was busy with a lobby investigation today. While the Senate lobby inquiry committee continued to probe into the records of the wool lobby, the General Committee of the House, appointed by Speaker Clark yesterday, made plans for an inquiry into the Mulhall charges.

Clarence H. Brown, chairman of the wool lobby committee, testified that his committee was not in 1909 and 1910 to attempt to interfere with tariff rates.

"I never even sought to clear for a man named Mulhall," said Brown.

NEGRO MADE BOAST OF KILLING A GIRL, AGENT DECLARES

Attorneys for Frank Will Put Main Reliance of Defense on the Startling Affidavit Made by W. H. Mincey and Now in Their Possession.

That Jim Conley, negro swooper at the National Pencil Factory, made a virtual confession to him that he attacked and killed Mary Phagan is the startling allegation made in an affidavit by William H. Mincey, until recently a solicitor for the American Insurance Company, of 116 1/2 North Pryor Street.

GARRISON PLANS TO ABANDON 100 ARMY POSTS

It became known Thursday that this affidavit, which is in the hands of the defense, will be the principal reliance, aside from the alibi which have been established for Frank, in bringing an acquittal of the accused man and obtaining a conviction against the negro.

No other evidence, in all of the more than two months' investigation of the mystery, has been so damaging and so direct. The defense has practically only to establish the credibility of Mincey to assure itself of victory.

Said He Had Killed Girl.

The sensational information is the first hint that the public has had that the negro was alleged to have made a confession of the crime. Up to this time the detectives have said that Conley had denied all connection with the killing itself.

"He killed a girl to-day. I don't want to kill nobody else," are the words that Mincey swore Conley spoke to him the afternoon that Mary Phagan was murdered in the pencil factory.

Mincey at the time of which his affidavit relates was selling life insurance in the negro district. He knew Conley had been after him several times to take out life insurance, according to the story he told in the office of Attorney Hoover.

Conley Was Drunk.

On the afternoon of the murder of Mary Phagan he met Conley near Electric and Carter Streets. Conley was sitting down with his head in his hands, apparently intoxicated.

"How about that insurance?" Mincey says he asked Conley.

"Get away from here. I don't want no insurance," Conley is said to have replied.

Mincey says in his affidavit that he urged Conley further and that the negro appeared to be angry.

"I tell you I don't want no insurance; I'm in trouble. I don't want you to bother me," Mincey swears Conley roared.

Mincey asserts that he stayed to argue with Conley and that the negro finally said:

"You go away. I'll be in jail in a few days and I won't want any insurance."

Negro Was Enraged.

His startling confession of murder is alleged to have come when he became enraged at Mincey's continued advances toward Mincey menacingly, according to the affidavit.

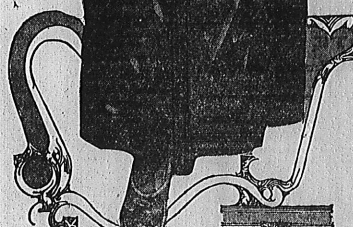

"He killed a girl to-day. I don't want to kill nobody else," Mincey declared Conley shouted at him.

Mincey thought little of the remark at the time, regarding Conley's remarks as mere bragadoes of an exaggeration of some negro fight in which he had been involved. When he read of the Phagan murder he recalled the remarks of Conley.

Go to Factory.

On the Tuesday following the strangling of the little girl he went to the factory. He talked to E. F. Holloway, the day watchman, and asked him how many negroes were employed there. Holloway replied that there were seven or eight.

"You should have every one of them arrested at once," Mincey told

Owner Asks $25,000 For Death in Wreck Of Aristocratic Pig

BIGGER ARMY POST HERE CERTAIN

Premier Longfellow Rival, a blue-blooded Berkshire hog with an ancestry tracing back to the Mayflower, was the subject of a $25,000 litigation in the court of Judge Bell Friday morning. Rival's owner, J. B. DeWolf, late of Nashville and now of Atlanta, sought to recover this amount for the killing of the aristocratic pigdom. Attorneys for the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad were on hand to say that the hog was not worth even the $10,000 awarded DeWolf by another court and from which award an appeal was taken. The story told the court was that premier Longfellow Rival was on his private palace car en route from Montgomery to Vicksburg, where he was to be exhibited at a fair in 1909. There was a collision and Rival was considerably smashed up. About a month later he calmly laid down and died.

MINNEY'S STORY CHARGE DOCTOR JOLTS POLICE TO ACTIVITY

The Georgian's exclusive publication of the sensational details of the W. H. Minney affidavit, in which Jim Conroy was alleged to have confessed to the killing of a girl in a rooming house, created a big stir Friday in police circles and immediate efforts were made to discredit the accusations against the negro. Detectives set out at once on a wild hunt for Minney. Lines were drawn out to produce witnesses who would swear that Minney's story was not to be depended upon. The detective force, which virtually had been resting on its oars in the Phlegm case for several weeks, was galvanized into action by the startling charges made in the affidavit of Minney, which was first made public by the Georgian.

business she knows. The chief stated that the girl will be taken around the city Friday afternoon to identify the three men, and that they will be arrested at once after being identified.

In addition to the four men named by the Wilson girl against whom charges will be made, she gave the chief the names of thirteen others with whom she says she also had intimate relations.

These twelve will be subpoenaed as witnesses in the trial of the two girls, which has been postponed until Saturday afternoon, and forced to tell all they know about vice. If evidence warranting it develops at the trial, they will be arrested and cases made against them.

Two men named by the Wilson girl as having been in the hotel where the girl was arrested, were arrested Friday morning. They are A. C. Dollar, a shoemaker, living at 46 Duval Street, who is held on a charge of discredibly conduct, and W. W. SLAYING CHARGE FOR CONLEY'S EXPECTED

Speedy Indictment of Negro Is Likely Following Publication of Mincey Affidavit.

Mincey was employed until two weeks ago, was seen Friday and was dissembling to mislead Mincey's aunt.

He declared that Mincey was dissembling of a bracelet and that on the Monday following the crime had asserted his belief in the guilt of Newt Lee. When Conley was arrested, said Mincey, Mincey once had said that he was certain that Conley had committed the crime.

Mincey was wondering how much money he might make as a witness and seemed more concerned with this phase of the case than with the identity of the murderer, said Duke.

Conley's indictment likely. The speedy indictment of Jim Conley on the charge of murdering Mary Phagan was the strong possibility followed in court circles Friday following the publication of the affidavit.

For nearly two months a self-confessed accessory after the fact of the murder of the little factory girl, Conley has been allowed to go without an indictment, and the public indignation against him, which indicates most strongly, if the credibility of the defense will be cut out, that Conley was not the actual principal in the crime, is expected to result in a thorough investigation by the Grand Jury of all the rumors and stories which have been in circulation.

Dorey Makes No Comment. Dorey Dorey Friday morning would make no comment on the new affidavit.

The detective openly declared their disbelief in the statements of Mincey. They said that he told a different story when he was at police headquarters, and that he asserted after confronting the negro that Conley was not the murderer.

The afternoon that Mary Phagan was murdered. Richmond, of the city detectives, and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, said that if Mincey had related the truth, he would have been arrested immediately.

Mincey's statement, it is so far as it goes, that he did not tell the same story to the man he talked with on Saturday afternoon. Mincey said that he did not tell him that he did not care to take his name out of the paper.

Conley told on Saturday afternoon that he never shall come to be entirely free from the charge of the murder of the little factory girl.

Detective headquarters were the headquarters of the presentment of the slaying defendant. With the presentment of the slaying defendant, the case was referred to committee as follows:

Mincey Affidavit Leads to Another Cross-Examination of Phagan Case Suspect.

As a result of the publication by The Georgian exclusively Thursday of the sensational affidavit of W. M. Mincey, the insurance agent, which declared that Jim Conley had confessed on the afternoon of the Phagan murder, that he had killed a little girl, the negro sweeper was again put on the grill late Friday afternoon. The cross-examination was conducted by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey personally at the police station and was attended by utmost secrecy.

Police Drive Being Told.

Conley was taken into the Police Commissioner's room on the second floor of the station house by a circuitous route to avoid being seen in the room awaiting him were the reporter, his assistant, Frank J. Hooper, and Chief of Detectives Lanford. The negro was questioned for more than an hour. The result of the inquiry was not made known.

It is Correct in Every Detail.

"It is correct in every detail," said one of the lawyers. "It was not the intention to make any of our inquiries into evidence public, but now that Mincey's story has found its way into print, there is nothing to do but admit that we have the affidavit and that it makes the assertions which The Georgian printed yesterday."

business as he knows. The chief stated that the girl will be taken around the city Friday afternoon to identify the three men, and that they will be arrested at once after being identified.

In addition to the four men named by the Wilson girl against whom charges will be made, she says she checked the names of thirteen other men with whom she says she and Dora Rothstein have taken money.

These twelve will be subpoenaed as witnesses in the trial of the two girls, which has been postponed until Saturday afternoon.

Two men named by the Wilson girl as having taken her money were arrested by the police for several nights ago. They are A. C. Collins, a shoemaker, living at 1015 North Avenue, and W. W. Smith, assistant yardmaster of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad, who is held on a $10,000 bond.

Smith and Dora were named in the statements of the Rothstein girl, who named the Wilson girl as a procurer, and declared she had helped her to the two men.

Wilson Girl Denies Charge. Corinne Wilson denies the charges made against her by the Rothstein girl and declares that she was led into a life of shame by the latter girl.

The Rothstein girl at the White City Park last Fourth of July, and told her she was among the crowd that gathered around her in the woods near the park, and that she met Dora and Dora's mother.

On Saturday night and Sunday night she went somewhere in the woods, and on Monday night she stayed at the Roosevelt park with some men, Tuesday and Wednesday night she stayed at the home of a man named Dora, and on the Adams Road, Atlanta, and were arrested last night.

Accused Her Assauser. "Dora Rothstein told me that she had been to go with the man she told me she had been doing it for a long time and that she could make a good story and make some money. I added when she told me she could make money, and she introduced me to the man who had been doing it."

The Wilson girl told Chief Heavers and his men that before she was married, she stayed at a hotel on Broad Street with a man, and that she was the wife of Andrew Wilson, who was working in Atlanta. She says she has been in Atlanta four weeks ago to visit her mother, who had married her father.

Chief Heavers stated that in addition to involving the hotels and the seventeen men, the Wilson girl has told him a lot of things she had heard from other girls. He said she has given him the names of all the girls who knew the man, and he has given her auto riding with men and playing at the hotel with men.

That all of the girls will be brought in and questioned. The Wilson girl also gave the chief the names of a number of other girls who had been in the same situation, which she asserted, she and other girls had been through.

MORTGAGE LAW REFORM LOSES VOTES IN HOUSE

Attempt to Reduce Number of First Expenditure by New Legislation Consummated - Slaton's Appearances Confirmed.

The effort to reform the mortgage laws of Georgia so that the mortgage holder would be required before foreclosing to advertise once a week for four weeks instead of four months prior to the next term of the Superior Court, met with defeat in the House Friday, despite the favorable recommendation of the General Judiciary Committee No. 1.

Representative Moss of Cobb, presented a draft report, in which the proposed bill was declared to be too drastic. This drew a debate, in which Representative Whitworth, chairman of the General Judiciary Committee No. 1, and Carl Vinson, of Fulton, and Wright of Floyd, participated.

The roll call showed 38 yeas and 27 nays on the passage of the bill. This was not being a constitutional majority, the bill was declared lost. Representative Harry Wright gave notice that he would move to reconsider the bill.

Davidson, of Putnam, and Sparks, of Thomas, presented the bill. The bill was read the first time. The roll call showed 38 yeas and 27 nays on the passage of the bill.

Among the new bills filed were: By Pubhitzer of Burke—Providing for a special tax of 1 mill during 1913 and 1914 to meet deficiencies in the State.

ROYAL PARTY IS HEALEY BUILDING ASSAILED BY MILITANTS

Gunman, Hired by Sufferists, Fires Shot From Gallery of House of Commons.

Special Agents of the Atlanta Georgian-LIVERPOOL, July 11.—Many persons were hurt here today in street fighting between men and women which followed an attempt by militant suffragettes to attack the carriage in which King George and Queen Mary were driving through the city.

The attack followed a wild scene in Lord Street when Miss Jolly, secretary of the Liverpool branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, made a bold raid, smashing windows and breaking the plate-glass windows of dollars' worth of plate-glass windows.

The local militant leaders had laid plans for the biggest suffrage demonstration in Liverpool to-day, but the attack of the suffragettes, from the King and Queen, who are making a tour of the city.

Great Precautions Taken. Extraordinary precautions had been taken to guard their majesties' carriage. It was feared that the militants, who have been unusually active here of late, would attempt to interfere with the progress of the royal party and perhaps commit an actual assault.

The royal party was escorted by police and detectives in the streets and in the presence of the King and Queen, who are making a tour of the city.

Just before the royal party turned into Lord Street Miss Jolly, secretary of the Liverpool branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, made a bold raid, smashing windows and breaking the plate-glass windows of dollars' worth of plate-glass windows.

Several policemen overpowered her while she struggled with municipal guards. She was locked up. This incident alarmed the authorities, for it gave a clue that the women planned an assault.

Royal Carriage Attacked. Half an hour later the attack upon the royal carriage occurred. They hurled a brick in the police lines several yards in front of the carriage and it struck the carriage and one of the men stepped on it. Another man threw a brick at the carriage and it struck the carriage and one of the men stepped on it.

An inquiry led to the arrest and conviction of the man who was responsible for the attack. The police made a number of arrests.

Shot Heavily Panicked In House of Commons. LONDON, July 11.—An evident attempt at assassination occurred in the House of Commons today when a man in the gallery for spectators threw a revolver and fired shortly after the session of the House opened.

A parliamentary policeman who was standing near the man who threw the revolver, fired at him and he fled. The man who threw the revolver was shot in the arm and leg.

Other spectators in the gallery were scattered by the shot. The man who threw the revolver was shot in the arm and leg.

Garrison's Plan to Centralize Regulars Will Result in Enlargement of Fort McPherson.

That Secretary of War Garrison's plan to abandon 100 or more "absolutely useless" posts in a move to centralize the army will mean an enlargement of Fort McPherson, making it one of the largest in the country, is the consensus of opinion of army men here, including Colonel Vandrade, of the Seventeenth Regiment.

Special Agents of the Atlanta Georgian-LIVERPOOL, July 11.—Many persons were hurt here today in street fighting between men and women which followed an attempt by militant suffragettes to attack the carriage in which King George and Queen Mary were driving through the city.

The attack followed a wild scene in Lord Street when Miss Jolly, secretary of the Liverpool branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, made a bold raid, smashing windows and breaking the plate-glass windows of dollars' worth of plate-glass windows.

The local militant leaders had laid plans for the biggest suffrage demonstration in Liverpool to-day, but the attack of the suffragettes, from the King and Queen, who are making a tour of the city.

Great Precautions Taken. Extraordinary precautions had been taken to guard their majesties' carriage. It was feared that the militants, who have been unusually active here of late, would attempt to interfere with the progress of the royal party and perhaps commit an actual assault.

The royal party was escorted by police and detectives in the streets and in the presence of the King and Queen, who are making a tour of the city.

Just before the royal party turned into Lord Street Miss Jolly, secretary of the Liverpool branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, made a bold raid, smashing windows and breaking the plate-glass windows of dollars' worth of plate-glass windows.

Several policemen overpowered her while she struggled with municipal guards. She was locked up. This incident alarmed the authorities, for it gave a clue that the women planned an assault.

Royal Carriage Attacked. Half an hour later the attack upon the royal carriage occurred. They hurled a brick in the police lines several yards in front of the carriage and it struck the carriage and one of the men stepped on it. Another man threw a brick at the carriage and it struck the carriage and one of the men stepped on it.

An inquiry led to the arrest and conviction of the man who was responsible for the attack. The police made a number of arrests.

Shot Heavily Panicked In House of Commons. LONDON, July 11.—An evident attempt at assassination occurred in the House of Commons today when a man in the gallery for spectators threw a revolver and fired shortly after the session of the House opened.

A parliamentary policeman who was standing near the man who threw the revolver, fired at him and he fled. The man who threw the revolver was shot in the arm and leg.

Other spectators in the gallery were scattered by the shot. The man who threw the revolver was shot in the arm and leg.
