

I AM READY FOR TRIAL, SAYS FRANK TELEPHONE GIRLS HELP POLICE TRAP BURGLARS

THIEF SHOT RESISTING ARREST

Trio of Robbers Surprised as They Are Looting Store Caught in Long Chase.

The presence of mind of half-a-dozen girls employed at the Atlanta Telephone Exchange, at Ivy and Edge-wood streets, in notifying the police when they saw burglars breaking into the candy store of Michael Koloff, across the street, resulted in the capture of two negro burglars early Wednesday morning.

In the chase and battle which followed the arrival of the police one of the negroes, Will Walker, was shot in the right leg by Call Officer Watson, but was not wounded seriously.

The other negro, Dave Smith, was found hiding in a cellar on Houston street half an hour later by Plain Clothes Officer Gresham and Captain Mayo.

The police declare that the burglars would have escaped with their booty had it not been for the telephone girls and Chief of Police Beavers has extended his personal thanks and congratulations to the girls for their presence of mind.

Miss Clara Crash, the young woman, while working at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, heard the sound of breaking glass as the burglars smashed the window of the candy store.

Looking out of the exchange window the girls saw the two men enter a store. A third person hid himself on the corner as lookout.

As the several of the young women watched the burglars, another of the girls telephoned police headquarters and notified the police.

Assistant Chief Jeff, Captain Mayo, Call Officers Watson and Anderson and Policemen Williams were on the scene in an automobile. As the car, driven at top speed, dashed up to the front of the candy store, the girls who stood on the sidewalk saw the officers come and ran. The police, thinking he was the only man in the store, started in pursuit and were called back by the telephone girls, who were gathered at the windows of the plant.

"Come back," they cried, "there are two others in the store." At the car turned and started hurriedly back to the store, two negroes dashed out of the front door and ran up Ivy street, with the police in pursuit. The negroes turned down Auburn avenue and ran to the plant of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, where they separated.

One of them disappeared in the darkness, but the other was seen to run around to the back of the plant. The police surrounded the place, and Captain Mayo went into the darkness after him.

He flashed the negro in a few minutes, and the burglar ran out into the open on the rear side of the plant, directly toward Officer Watson.

Leaps at Policeman. The policeman yelled three times at the negro to halt. The burglar, however, continued to advance, and as he struck at the officer, Watson leaped aside and fired, the bullet penetrating the negro's leg.

The wounded negro was sent to the Grady Hospital in the ambulance, and the police continued their search for the other burglar. Half an hour later Captain Mayo and Officer Gresham found him crouching in the darkness of a cellar on Houston street. Gresham came upon the negro suddenly, and the burglar was probably thinking the officer was alone, leaped up with a curse.

Gresham covered him with his revolver, but the negro continued to advance. As Gresham was about to restrain Mayo came up and covered the negro and he surrendered.

"When the policeman, crowded with police and reporters, passed the telephone exchange on route back to the station, they were appalled by the scene which unfolded before them, and who were responsible for the capture of the two negroes.

Port Tampa Negro Shoots 3 Whites; 2 Victims May Die

TAMPA, July 23.—Three white men, Ernest Chaney, Walter Chaney and T. B. Austin, were shot by Columbus Hawkins, a negro, at Port Tampa to-day.

The three white men, with G. C. Mead, went to Hawkins' house, in the negro quarter, at an early hour to collect a debt which they say Charles Bell, another negro, owed Austin. When they rapped at Hawkins' back door he told them Bell was not there. They went to the front door and were met by Hawkins. He claims they began to shoot, and shows a small wound in his finger as proof.

Hawkins opened fire wounding three of the four. All of his five bullets found a target. All of the white men are seriously hurt and it would not be surprising if Ernest Chaney and Austin die. They had been drinking.

Marshal Walker found Bell in the house and rushed him and Hawkins to the county jail here to avoid trouble.

FRIEDMANN 'CURE' FAILS THORNTON

Young Atlanta Banker Sinks Rapidly and Dies at Asheville Following New Treatment.

Bitter arraignment of Dr. Franz Friedrich Friedmann, the German scientist and discoverer of a serum hailed as a cure for tuberculosis, followed the death of Austell Thornton, one of the best-known young bankers in Atlanta, near Asheville, N. C., early Wednesday morning.

Thornton's death was the result of tuberculosis, which set in following an attack of pneumonia eighteen months ago. When Dr. Friedmann came to this country last winter with his serum, heralded as a cure for consumptives, Thornton went to New York and underwent the treatment.

While Dr. Friedmann, who is at Bellevue Hospital there in demonstrating his cure, he also did a great deal of work in hotels among patients who flocked to Manhattan from all over the United States.

Treated by Friedmann. Thornton received his injections at the hotel where he was stopping, and it is said that Dr. Friedmann himself administered them. It is also declared that the German physician charged young Thornton with a fee of $100 for the treatment, one person Wednesday morning placing the sum at $2500.

Thornton ended his treatment and left New York three months ago in the belief that the serum would prove a cure, as it had been claimed. The only improvement at all noticeable was a lessening of the fever.

"I am firmly convinced," said S. H. Venable, an uncle of Thornton's who, with the Friedmann treatment, had taken Thornton to New York to take the injections the young man was not in a dangerous condition, still almost immediately after he left New York after the serum had been injected into his system to show whether the plague's ravages were more deadly.

Mr. Thornton was about 31 years old, and had resided in Atlanta since childhood. Six years ago he married Miss Bob Venable.

He was prominent in society and club circles, being a member of the Piedmont Driving Club, the Capital City Club and of practically every other prominent social organization of the city.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the family home, No. 411 Peachtree street. Interment private at Oakland.

Mr. Thornton was one of the best known citizens of Atlanta, and at the time of his death was a director in the Atlanta National Bank. He had large private interests and at one time was president of the Pine Mountain Granite Company. He was educated at the University of Georgia. His father, the late A. B. Thornton, was also a director in the Atlanta National.

He is survived by his widow and two children; also his mother, Mrs. Albert Thornton; his brother, Albert Thornton; his sister, Miss Jane Thornton, all of Atlanta.

TRACE FOUND HERE OF NEGRO SAID TO HAVE SEEN PHAGAN SLAYING

Sister of Will Green Tells Police He Slept at Home at Hour Girl Was Slain; Jim Conley, Factory Sweeper Again Grilled.

Here are Wednesday's important developments in the Phagan murder mystery: Bloodstained glove of Mary Phagan is said to have been found on the first floor near the place the discovery of her pay envelope was made.

New evidence is found tending to establish the identity of the negro, Will Green, said to have seen the attack upon Mary Phagan.

New Leo, negro night watchman at the pencil factory, undergoes a grilling examination at the hands of Solicitor General Dorsey and his associate counsel, Frank A. Hooper.

J. M. Ganitt, expected to give sensational evidence for the prosecution at the trial, is in conference with the solicitor and present at the grilling of Leo.

Leo M. Frank tells Sheriff Mangum that he is eager for the trial to begin, and will be ready when it is called Monday morning.

Solicitor Dorsey announces that he will insist that there be no further delay.

It became known Wednesday that the defense in the Frank case had been informed that the negro, Will Green, who is said to have been shooting craps with Jim Conley the day that Mary Phagan was murdered and the Wil Green living at 105 Third and Street, Atlanta, are the same person.

A negro calling himself J. Will Green visited the store May 16 and displayed a rather ornate gold ring worth probably $12 or $15. He desired to have a Radia diamond set in it, and said that he would be around within a day or two after it. He never returned.

It was about this time that the report spread around the city that the Phagan murder had had an eyewitness in the person of a negro who was shooting craps with Conley.

A sister of the Wil Green who left the ring at the jewelry store was seen Wednesday. She said that her brother had had a town about two months ago and that none of the family had heard from him since or had any idea where he was. She said he was working with some small circus or theatrical troupe when he left.

Leo Green, the detective who has been pursuing a lead to be connected with a circus or show, additional strength thus being given to the theory that their identity is the same.

He thought the detectives were mistaken in believing that her brother knew anything about the crime. He slept practically all the day that Mary Phagan was murdered, she declared, and didn't even go downtown to see the Memorial Day parade, although he was urged by some of his friends. He was working night on the Southern Railway at this time, according to the state, joining the show people a few days later.

He failed to explain why he suddenly had left town without stopping to recover the gold ring of considerable value which he had left at the Fine Jewelry store.

Ganitt Bee Solicitor. J. M. Ganitt, a discharged employee of the National Pencil Factory, who Wednesday conferred with Solicitor General Dorsey and Attorney Frank A. Hooper, denied that he made the startling statement to them that he saw at 1 o'clock on the day that Mary Phagan was murdered Jim Conley and Leo Frank conversing together in Frank's office.

Intimation that Ganitt contemplated making such a statement to the prosecution is said to have come to the defense in an anonymous letter some time ago. The writer said in effect: "I was standing on the street the other day and heard Ganitt talking to some fellow. He told this fellow that he had stood across the street Saturday, April 13, and had looked through the window of the factory and seen Jim Conley talking to Frank in Frank's office."

"I don't think Ganitt is talking to the Solicitor yet, and, as he is not in very good financial condition, they went over practically the same ground that was covered in the inquest, quitting him about his actions the day of the murder and his whereabouts every minute during the time before he reported at the factory and

FEMALE AFFAIRS IN PHONE GIRLS' CAMP

YOUNG THIEF IS TRAPPED BY RUSE

Girl, 14, Caught Stealing Purse, Freed on Plea of Victims in Series of Robberies.

Following a series of thefts at the summer camp of the employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company in Lakewood Heights during the past two weeks, a 14-year-old girl was trapped and caught in the act of taking a purse by County Foreman H. E. Jackson, Wednesday night.

Every effort was exerted to avoid publicity of the incident. When the girl was taken to the county police headquarters, Miss Katherine Tatum, superintendent of the camp, appeared and asked that no charge be made against her.

The miscreant returned the purse to Miss Tatum, declaring that she took it by mistake, thinking it to be her own. The money it contained, amounting to about $1, was intact. The girl was then released and Thursday morning was discharged from the employ of the telephone company.

Various Trust Set.

Since the first report that a Barber was operating among the women at the camp, various traps have been set, but without success. The articles which disappeared ranged from portions of women's attire to small amounts of money and bits of jewelry. Almost nightly, it is said, something was stolen.

Wednesday night Miss Tatum called upon a table to fall victim in one of the tents, concealed himself behind a trunk and watched developments.

A short time before the last car to the city was scheduled to leave, the policeman saw the girl enter the tent hastily, and after glancing about snatch the purse from the table and depart.

Springs from his hiding place, Jackson placed her under arrest.

Pleads for Girl's Thief.

Miss Tatum was informed and the girl taken to police headquarters. When Miss Tatum confronted her an hour later, the young prisoner declared she was pathetic. She protested her innocence of any intention at thievery and denied that she had perpetrated the other thefts.

Miss Tatum asked that no charge be lodged against her. The girl was permitted to return to her home.

"It was simply one of those cases of being unable to withstand temptation," she declared. "It was not so much the girl's fault, considering the circumstances. I pity her and hold no malice toward her, nor do any of the other girls in the camp. She just couldn't help it."

Working Charges Executive With Unsurprising Legislative Power—Scores Tariff Influence

WASHINGTON, July 24.—On the floor of the Senate today Senator Works, of California, denounced President Wilson for influencing tariff legislation in the summing up of a speech on the tariff bill pending before the Senate.

"The tendency of executive politics is to exalt the latter-day at the expense of the legislative and judicial power of the government, and make the President the master and ruler of them all, and the master and not the servant of the whole people," said the Senator.

"It is an unwarranted and dangerous tendency. Every public official, however exalted, is only the servant of the people, and should at all times be subject to their control and obedient to their will in conformity to the Constitution and laws of the country. The department of the Government, if its institutions are to be preserved, must be kept within the limitations of its power as fixed by the Constitution.

Judge Announces He Is Ready to Try Case; 144 Men Empanelled

Jim Conley, the negro sweeper of the National Penitentiary, was taken from the police station late Thursday afternoon by Detectives Starnes and Campbell to verify certain of his statements and to point out certain witnesses, who he told the detectives would be able to refute the affidavit of W. H. Minney by showing that he was not at the point where Minney swears the negro confessed he "had killed a girl" on the afternoon of the murder. The detectives would not divulge the location of the places to be visited.

Says He Has Not Even Been Asked for Postponement, and Sees No Reason Why Trial Should Not Begin On Date Fixed.

Judge I. S. Roan, home from Covington, late Thursday, declared to a Georgian reporter that he saw no reason why the trial of Leo M. Frank, accused of the murder of Mary Phagan, should not begin Monday.

The Judge who had been reported ill said he felt fully able to go ahead and had not been asked for a postponement.

"I see no reason why the trial should not begin on the date fixed," he said. "As far as I am concerned everything is in readiness. I have not been asked to allow a delay."

Judge Roan added that he had informed Judge Penleton that he had no objection on his part to going ahead with the drawing of twelve panels of 12 men each of prospective jurors were drawn. Deputy Sheriff Plennie Miner had notified all the attorneys involved in the case, and he expected that the defense would make its motion for the drawing of the jury from the Grand Jury panel before Judge Penleton and there was no doubt Solicitor Dorsey would oppose it and very likely win his point.

The prosecution was ready June 29 in the case of the State vs. Leo M. Frank charged with the murder of little Mary Phagan on April 26 last. We have subpoenaed all the witnesses, expecting to try this case on Monday next. This date was set at the suggestion of Judge L. S. Roan at the suggestion of counsel for the defense.

"We are disappointed that the jury was not drawn this morning at the suggestion of the State," Judge Roan stated it would be done.

"The State assembly will be ready Monday unless something entirely unforeseen happens, and will ask trial of this man at that time."

Superior Judge John T. Penleton declined to draw a jury for the Frank trial Thursday morning until he heard definitely from Judge L. S. Roan whether the case would be opened next Monday. Judge Penleton announced he would know definitely by Monday.

Chief Lanford said: "This will never happen again."

Chief Heavers would not talk of the incident, but it is understood to have told the detectives, Starnes and Campbell, that if the negro were taken from the police station again he (Heavers) proposed to be in on it. There was a commotion at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon, when it was found that Conley had been spirited away to confront Newt Lee in the Tower. Chief Lanford knew nothing of the circumstance until he was informed by the Georgian.

Public sentiment is where it was on the date first set for Frank's trial and it will be at the same place if the trial is delayed for a year.

Atlantans are awaiting the trial with open minds. They are not holding themselves up as judges. They know the law is supreme and they want it to take its course. But the trial court course is not to be taken.

Let the Frank Trial Go On

Leo Frank should be placed on trial Monday for the murder of Mary Phagan.

The crime was committed April 26; Frank was arrested April 28; he was indicted May 23; his trial set for June 30.

At the suggestion of the judge in whose court the trial was to take place, a postponement was agreed on, and the date of the trial moved up to July 28.

New attempts are being made to secure another postponement. The only reason given to the public is that the weather is hot and it would be disagreeable to hold the trial in the summer.

Of course it is hot, but it isn't any hotter in the court room than it is in jail.

Both the prosecution and the defense have had ample time to prepare their cases. If Frank is guilty, the State can prove his innocence as well in summer as in winter.

The public has taken a keen interest in the Phagan case and it will demand that the man who killed her be punished, whether that man is Frank or someone else. Furthermore, it is tired of delay.

Public sentiment is where it was on the date first set for Frank's trial and it will be at the same place if the trial is delayed for a year.

Atlantans are awaiting the trial with open minds. They are not holding themselves up as judges. They know the law is supreme and they want it to take its course. But the trial court course is not to be taken.

THIRD CHAPTER IN PHAGAN MYSTERY

TWO EARLY FIGURES IN PHAGAN MYSTERY

Arrests of Suspects in the Factory Slaying. Sensation as Leo Frank, Manager Was Taken Into Custody.

CHAPTER III.

Everything that occurred, trivial or important, during those first few days after the body of little Mary Phagan was discovered in the pencil factory basement took on a dramatic aspect. The people were keyed to an high a pitch by the revolving crime that for a time it seemed to require only a spark to fire them to violent deeds.

Let a strange person as much as appear at the police station to confer with Chief Detective Estaford and city hall would spread about the city like wildfire. Leo of the day, a flash everyone mysteriously understood that a complete confusion had been made to the police by the murderer.

So it was a minister reception that the first catch in the detective's net received from the group of angry men when he was taken into custody. The police headquarters Sunday night of the day after the factory girl had been slain.

All through the day, some of them merely musingly, others more than they were. The mistake impression that they were going to help the authorities in some manner. Since Leo Frank had been taken into custody in the morning, there had been no arrest, but now with the end of the day came the intelligence that the murderer of Mary Phagan had been captured and was being brought to a cell at the police station.

Smiles Defiant at Crowd.

Eagerly the crowd wanted to learn the man's identity. On each side of the group they lined themselves as he was walked, definitely toward them between two detectives. A smile curled his lips when he heard their sullen mutterings.

"I know that guy," it Art Mulhax, "came in a horse whizzed out of a roughly dressed outfit.

The group of men and boys closed in behind the detectives and their captives, but officers heaved their shoulders to the police station. To Chief Landford, Mullinax repeated his denial of the crime which he had made previously to the detectives when they placed him under arrest.

"It's a horrible mistake," he cried, dropping the bravado he had displayed before the crowd. "I don't even know Mary Phagan, except by sight, and the only time I saw her was at a Christmas entertainment."

Describe his protestations of innocence, he was placed in solitary confinement and instructions were given that no one should be permitted to see him. Scintilla, the community clerk, insisted that he was the man he saw with Mary Phagan Saturday night at the factory, and he was so positive in his identification that she appeared to be little doubt of the circumstance.

Sentell Was Positive.

Sentell was positive. He had known Mullinax for some time by sight and had met him frequently at the bar, where both of them had worked one time. He was certain he was not mistaken. If it were possible, he would have even more positive identification of Mary, for he had known her since she was a child, and she had repelled, calling him Jim, and she had been very friendly to him.

She was walking feebly on the hundred feet of the factory floor, and he was walking feebly on the hundred feet of the factory floor, and he was walking feebly on the hundred feet of the factory floor.

Another Arrest Made.

She declined to the detectives and to newspaper reporters that Gant had been seen by her three weeks and that she understood he was on his way to California, when it was known that such was not the case.

Adding to the suspicion against him, he made the unfortunate move of leaving town at the very time the search was started for him, and the impression that he was taking to flight. As it happened, he went only to Marietta and he was arrested as he stepped from a car there. He indignantly denied that he had any idea of flight. He did not have any idea that the officers were after him, he declared.

His story was that he went to Marietta to buy a gun and that he had shot his mother several days before that to his surprise on the day morning. A warrant charging that he was suspected of the murder of Mary Phagan was lodged against him and he was returned to Atlanta to be placed in a cell.

To add to the confusion and doubt was the story of the crime, that at the moment when the detectives were active that they had the crime, that the writing of the notes found in the home of the Phagan girl was unmistakably that of the negro.

One of them qualified as an expert more than the others. He said that he was in the basement, and that he was in the basement, and that he was in the basement.

ARTHUR MULLINAX.

to the gallows, the most startling rumor of all was taking form. It was that a high official of the National Pencil Company was suspected of the brutal crime and that an arrest would take place within a short time. Through mysterious means it became known that the police did not place much dependence on the seemingly positive identifications that had been made of both Gant and Mullinax.

It was learned at the same time that the theory that the little girl had been lured to the factory at night was being abandoned and that in its place the detectives were adopting the theory that she never left the factory after she entered it at noon to get her pay. They did not believe any of the stories that Mary Phagan had been seen on the street Saturday night.

Arrest Creates Sensation.

It was given out that Frank was not under arrest, but from that time to this he has not known a moment of actual freedom. "His move of the detectives created a sensation. Public indignation, ready to vent itself on the newest object of hand, mounted as morning hours went by, though nothing was known against Frank except that he freely admitted being in the factory at the time the Phagan girl came for her money and that the detectives interpreted some of his actions after the crime as highly suspicious. His many friends rushed immediately to his defense. They proclaimed his arrest as a ridiculous blunder on the part of the police. They pointed to his career and to his reputation as his most potent indication that he would not descend to the bench side of the intemperate life of Mary Phagan.

But the detectives said: "He was the last one known to have seen Mary Phagan alive. He was nervous and excited when Leo came to the factory at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He was nervous and apparently fearful when she came there at a round trip from the factory to the home of the Phagan girl, and he was nervous and apparently fearful when she came there at a round trip from the factory to the home of the Phagan girl, and he was nervous and apparently fearful when she came there at a o'clock and desired to enter the factory.

Actions Were Unusual.

He called Newt Lee in the evening, something he never had done before during Leo's employment.

There was no answer when Leo called his house early Sunday morning after finding the body and calling the police.

There was no answer when Call of Lee Anderson attempted to get him on the telephone when the four policemen were in the factory early that morning.

He acted in a highly suspicious manner when the officers came to his house Sunday morning to take him to the police station for questioning.

All the time that the storm of accusation and bitterness was rising against the young factory superintendent, his attorney, Luther Z. Roser, kept silence, except to say that Frank in the end would be found guilty.

Convinced of his guilt and faithfulness in his behalf, only once in the early days of the tragedy was he provoked to a show of his halting fighting qualities. This was when he reached the police station after Frank's arrest and was refused the privilege of seeing Frank.

"Will you see whether they can stop me from conferring with my own clients," he shouted. A few minutes later he was in conversation with Frank.

From Frank's arrest until the next day, when the inquest was to begin, a dozen detectives were searching the factory rigidly from top to bottom for evidence. Practically every employee of the plant was quizzed and detectives were sent about the city running down fresh leads that came into the possession of the department.

On the eve of the inquest came the tragic funeral services of the was drawn this morning as Judge Roan stated it would be done. The State attorney will be ready Monday unless something entirely unforeseen happens, and will ask trial of this man at that time.

Jury Not Drawn.
Superior Judge J. T. Pennington declined to draw a jury for the Francis trial Thursday morning until he heard definitely from Judge R. S. Roan whether the case would be opened next Monday. Judge Pennington announced he would not definitely fix a clock Thursday afternoon whether the case would be called Monday, and he would draw the jury at that time if necessary.

A Deputy Sheriff Plummer Miner had instructions from Judge Roan to have one of the other judges draw the jury box to Judge Pennington to have the twelve panels drawn. He notified the attorneys for the state and the prosecution in ample time for them to be at the court. Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey said his assistants were the only attorneys to put in an appearance.

It developed Thursday morning that there were two rather stuffed chiefs at the police department the previous afternoon when Jim Conley was snatched from his cell in the station over to the Tower without their permission and without their knowledge.

Chief Lanford said: "This will never happen again."
Chief Beavers would not talk of the incident, but it is understood to have told the two detectives, Starnes and Campbell that if the negro were taken from the police station again he (Beavers) supposed he is in on it.

There was a commotion at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon, when it was found that Conley had been spirited away to confront News Lee in the Tower. Chief Lanford knew nothing of the circumstance until he was informed by the sergeant. Even then he insisted that Conley was in his cell.

Then Detectives Explain.
He went to Chief Beavers' office to see if permission had been given there for Conley's removal. Beavers said he did not know Conley was gone. Station Sergeant Holcomb was approached. He said he had not been notified that the prisoner was to be taken away. Turnkey Beane, the lawman, was asked to explain the mysterious disappearance of Conley. He informed Chief Beavers that Detective Starnes and Campbell had taken him about a half hour before.

The chief, to satisfy himself that Conley was still in custody, made a personal visit to the jail.

When Starnes and Campbell later were in conference with the chief they told him that they had not anything about their intention because neither Chief Beavers nor Chief Lanford was in the station at the time.

HOTEL ELEVATOR HIS SCHOOL OF AVIATION

Robert Pettit, 4, Who Declares He's Going to Be "Air-ship Flyer."

"I Don't Like It," He Says, "But I Must Get Used to Being 'In the Air.'"

Robert Pettit, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Pettit, of Denver, spends from six to eight hours every day in the elevator of the Hotel Ansley.

"I got a bank with 4 pennies and a dime. That ought to buy a good machine," he says.

In the elevator of Hotel Ansley, because he wants to be an aviator. Robert figures it this way: "There isn't much use in buying and running an airplane if you are going to get sick every time you get in and out of it. The thing to do, therefore, is to get used to being off the ground—and then buy your airplane."

"I don't like to ride in elevators," he says, "but I've got to. I'm going to be an aviator when I grow up and I've got to get used to being off the ground. It is working fine, too. I can go up to the fourth floor now without getting dizzy. I'll make a dandy aviator, I'll bet."

The youngster has become a familiar figure to attendants and guests of the hotel. Every morning, as soon as he can slip away from Mrs. Pettit and his nurse, he craves his little chair under the elevator and sits solemnly behind the operator. He manifests great interest in the operation of the lift, and his greatest joy comes when he is allowed to hold the levers and make believe he is operating the elevator as soon as he is sure he can do it without getting sick.

"I've got a bank at home with four pennies and a dime in it," he said. "I guess that'll get a pretty good airplane. If it isn't enough, Mama will give me as much more as I need."

SENATE DEFEATS NEW COUNTY MEASURE

Barrow Advocates Lose in Upper House After Long and Strenuous Fight.

The bill creating Barrow County, with Winder as the county seat, was defeated in the Senate Thursday afternoon after a long and strenuous fight. Advocates of the new county declared a strong effort would be made to reconsider the action.

A large number of people were down from Winder to witness the action of the Senate. The House had already acted favorably on the bill. Senator Dubose, of the Thirtieth District, led the fight for the new county. While this bill passed the House with the endorsement of three of the six representatives from the district affected, it is known that only one of the Senators of the three from the counties concerned to-day had any objection to the bill. It is said, will actively oppose it when it comes up for passage.

Either the defeat or the passage of the Barrow County bill, it was argued by some, will mean an end of the consideration of the fighting bill. The Senate, for strong delegation from the counties affected, is on hand to wage their fight, and will not give up until the last card has been played. Among the new counties which are being considered are Warner, and Miller and Millidge.

Lawrence Small and Norwood Counties will be considered by the House committee Thursday afternoon.

SENATOR WOULD ANNEX NORTH MEXICO

Hitchcock of Nebraska Also Favors Dividing Remainder of Country Into Small Nations.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The annexation of States in Northern Mexico by the United States and the division of the remainder of the country into separate governments was suggested today by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as a possible way of bringing about peace in that country.

"The cessation of a portion of Northern Mexico to the United States in payment for the enormous indemnity which must be asked of that country for damage to American life and property during the war, is a feasible way of settling these claims," said Hitchcock. "It will be impossible for Mexico to meet the demands of the United States in cash.

"These States also would serve as a buffer between the United States and the Mexican Indians farther south.

"Inasmuch as Mexico is now torn between two conflicting factions, it is within the bounds of possibility that peace might be restored through the establishment of separate nations governed by the chief of the contending factions.

Save Sundry Way to Peace.
"It would seem as present that this would be the most speedy way of bringing a cessation of hostilities to that war-ridden land. Of course, these suggestions are in no way to be taken as an authoritative statement as to the course the United States will pursue. They simply embody my own views on the subject."

President Wilson has not proposed the annexation of Mexico with the Mexican situation, he has not selected any alternative course of action for escaping from the present predicament, nor will he do so before the conference with Ambassador Wilson at the White House to-day and it understood to emanate directly from the White House.

The proposal that the President should send a special mission to suggest mediation to the warring factions in the Mexican situation, either side would consent to the United States setting up a committee, secondly, the administration does not believe that any such committee when it is almost certain they would be treated with contempt.

Following a conference with President Wilson, Senator Bacon, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said that the United States, acting as mediator in Mexico, had not been actively invited by either side. "The suggestion is, however, that a policy of mediation will be adopted," said Senator Bacon. "I think, however, that we would have to be invited to act as a mediator."

Bacon Denies Intervention.

England Ready to Send Battleship to Mexico.
LONDON, July 24.—Great Britain is keeping a watchful eye on the situation in Mexico. In the House of Commons to-day Foreign Minister Grey, replying to a member's question, stated that the Government knew there was serious disturbance in various parts of Mexico and that British subjects were in danger. The Foreign Secretary stated that he was in communication with the Admiralty and in case it was decided to advise a British warship would be dispatched to Mexico.

Bryan Hurrying to Capital for Conference.

The only official with him in his suite train was William L. O'Connell, governor Dunn's political representative.

"I shall leave Washington again as soon as I feel properly calm," said Mr. Bryan. "I have several chautauque engagements to fill during the summer."

Secretary Bryan declined to discuss his coming conference with Henry Lane Wilson, United States ambassador to Mexico, who is on his way back here, but he said that the United States and the State Department chief.

Cardinal Gibbons Lauds Wilson's Mexico Policy.
WESTMINSTER, MD., July 24.—That Cardinal Gibbons is in sympathy with the Wilson administration is demonstrated to-day by his declaration that he would recognize the Huerta Government if it were clearly shown that it was not a mere puppet government. He thought the present Mexican Government is not well enough established to give it permanent recognition. He should not be recognized by the United States.

He said he sympathized with President Wilson in the delicate question of Mexico, but he thought it was better to wait until the situation was clearer before making a decision. He said he was in sympathy with the Wilson administration.

The Clink of Comfort in a glass of Iced Postum

Dr. Starnes to Play Great Symphony as Farewell to Atlanta

The whole of Tchaikowsky's "Symphonie Pathétique," regarded by many as the greatest piece of instrumental music ever composed, will be played at a free-concert Thursday evening at the Auditorium-Opera under the Music Festival Association's auspices.

The presentation of such a work complete in its nature is something of the novel. Every morning, as soon as he can slip away from Mrs. Pettit and his nurse, he craves his little chair under the elevator and sits solemnly behind the operator. He manifests great interest in the operation of the lift, and his greatest joy comes when he is allowed to hold the levers and make believe he is operating the elevator as soon as he is sure he can do it without getting sick.

"I've got a bank at home with four pennies and a dime in it," he said. "I guess that'll get a pretty good airplane. If it isn't enough, Mama will give me as much more as I need."

HOUSE VOTES TO GIVE SCHOOLS $2,600,000

Appropriation Made After Four-Hour Debate—One of Forty Amendments Passes.

After a four-hour debate the House Thursday morning, sitting as a committee of the whole, acted favorably on section 5 of the general appropriations bill, covering appropriations to colleges and the public school fund.

"Despite the fact that more than 40 amendments were offered on it, but one change was made. This was an increase of $100,000 in the public school fund, making the total $2,600,000. The Appropriations Committee had recommended that $2,500,000 be appropriated, this being the exact amount paid out during the past year.

Score of Speeches Made.
The amendment adopted was offered by Representative Stovall, and was carried by a vote of 80 to 45. The entire section was productive of debate, half a hundred speeches being made. The Stovall amendment came in the way of a compromise, a strenuous effort being made to make the appropriation $2,700,000.

It is believed the House will complete its work on the appropriations bill this week. Two days have already been consumed in it and if the House passes it this week a new record will have been set for expediency.

Quick Action Sees Sure.
It will be taken up by the Senate immediately and everything looks favorable for the sending of it to the Governor ten days before the expiration of the session. The Senate has threatened to call an extra session unless the bill reaches him by that time.

An effort to limit the time of the consideration of the bill by the House as a committee of the whole to an hour for each section except the fifth caused an hour's hot debate. The resolution provided for 10-minute speeches by eight members and twenty minutes for Chairman Wheeler, of the Appropriations Committee. This was killed by a 51 to 31 vote.

CAMP LIFE INCREASES HELLO GIRLS' ABILITY

Swimming, Rambles in Woods, Auto-Rides and Sleeping Outdoors Give New Lease on Life.

If you do not believe the simple life is conducive to better work, ask some of the heads of departments of the Bell Telephone Company. They'll tell you that since the establishment of Camp Wyanoke at Lakewood Heights, where the young women employees of the company spend their vacations and their week-ends, the work of the "hello girls," the stenographers and the other young women who work in the big building at Mitchell and Pryor streets, has greatly improved.

The idea we had in mind when Camp Wyanoke was established, Miss Katherine Tatum, who is in charge of the camp, said, Thursday morning, "is working out splendidly. The girls come back to Atlanta after a few days or a week's stay at the camp invigorated and almost with new lease on life. They have breathed pure, fresh air; they have returned to their work with a vim and a determination that is usually lacking during the hot summer months."

The simple life is lived in all its phases at Camp Wyanoke. With the exception of the harder and unfamiliar work of cooking all the dishes done by the girls. They wash dishes, wash their own clothing--or most of it--keep house, sew and do a hundred and one other things.

When work is done they go swimming and wading, or take long rides in the automobiles the company sends out to them several times a week.

Every Wednesday and Saturday nights there are dances and games of various kinds.

The practice of sleeping in the open air is considered by Miss Tatum one of the best features of the camp. It gives many girls who heretofore have been cooped up in tiny city rooms a chance to recuperate.

Sunday School in Camp.

Every girl employed by the company is given a chance to taste the joys of camp life. Those who had taken their vacations before the camp was installed have been given a leave of absence of three or four days that they might visit the camp. Others spend their entire vacation there.

There are always about twenty girls at the camp, and on Saturday and Sunday this number is sometimes swelled to a hundred, by the girls who come out to spend Sunday. Sunday school is held in the open air under the trees, and is usually attended by about a hundred young women.

PRESIDENT IS GROWN SEES SALESMAN STABBED

WASHINGTON, July 24.—On the floor of the Senate to-day Senator Works, of California, denounced President Wilson for influencing tariff legislation in the summing up of a speech on the tariff bill pending before the Senate.

Works Charges Executive With Usurping Legislative Power, Scores Tariff 'Influences'

"The tendency of latter-day politics is to exalt the executive at the expense of the legislative and judicial power of the Government, and make the President the master and ruler of them all, and the master and not the servant of the whole people," said the Senator.

"It is an unwarranted and dangerous tendency. Every public official, however exalted, is only the servant of the people, and should at all times be subject to their control and supervision to their will in conformity with the Constitution and laws of the country, and each department of the Government, if its institutions are to be preserved, must be kept within the limitations of its power as fixed by the Constitution."

He Charges Tariff Action

"If this bill is passed, it will not be the willing and voluntary consent of a majority of this body. It will be the result, in part, of outside influences that should never enter into the deliberations of acts of Congress. The Constitution provides:

All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives."

Currency Reform Not Likely to Pass

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Passage of a currency reform bill at this session of Congress was considered most doubtful to-day unless President Wilson brings peace between the warring factions of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

STATE READY TO OPPOSE PLEA FOR DELAY

Solicitor Disappointed When Court Fails to Draw Jury Panels at Time Planned.

A demand for trial of Leo M. Frank, accused of the slaying of Mary Phagan, without further delay, was made Thursday by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey. In a statement to The Georgian he said:

"The prosecution was ready June 29 in the case of the State vs. Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of little Mary Phagan on April 26 last. We have served all the witnesses expected to try this case on Monday. This date was set at the suggestion of Judge L. S. Roan at the instance of counsel for the defense.

"We are disappointed that the Judge was not drawn this morning as Judge Roan stated it would be done.

"The State assuredly will be ready Monday unless something entirely unforeseen happens, and will ask trial of this man at that time."

A Superior Jury Drawn.

A Superior Jury for the Frank trial Thursday morning will be heard Monday by Judge L. S. Roan. He will then decide whether the case would be opened next Monday. Judge Pendleton announced he would know definitely by 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon whether the case would be called Monday, and he would draw the jury at that time if necessary.

Deputy Sheriff Plunk Minter had instructions from Judge Roan to have one of the other judges draw the jury Thursday morning unless he was notified to the contrary. Judge Roan notified the attorneys for the State for the jury box to Judge Pendleton to draw the twelve panels drawn. He notified the attorneys for the State and the prosecution in ample time for them to be at the court. Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey and his assistant were the only attorneys to put in an appearance.

Attorney Reuben Arnold, according to Judge Pendleton, had gone to Covington to confer with Judge Roan, and the Judge was expected to return to the city before 4 o'clock, when it was possible the attorney would confer with him and definitely settle the question. Dorsey must be consulted.

Prosecuting Attorney Hugh M. Dorsey announced he would fight vigorously any move to postpone the trial without first giving him a hearing on the subject.

It developed Thursday morning that there were two rather ruffled chiefs at the police department in the previous afternoon when Jim Conley was snatched from his cell in the station over to the Tower without their permission and without their knowledge.

Chief Lanford said: "This will never happen again."

Chief Beavers would not talk of the incident, but it is understood to have led the two detectives, Starrett and Campbell, that if the negro were taken from the police station again he (Beavers) was to be in on it.

There was a commotion at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon, when it was found that Conley had been applied away to confront Nevert Lee in the Tower. Chief Lanford knew nothing of the circumstance until he was informed by The Georgian. Even then he insisted that Conley was in jail.

Then Detectives Explained.

He went to Chief Beavers' office to see if Beavers had been given three of Conley's removal. Beavers said he did not know Conley was gone. Station Sergeant Hubbard was applied to. He said he had not been notified that the prisoner was to be taken away. Further Beavers, the last resort, was asked to explain the mystery.

12 JURY PANELS READY FOR FRANK TRIAL

GOVERNMENT TO DIVORCE RAILROADS FROM TRUSTS

EXPORTS ALL REBATES TO END

Interstate Commerce Commission to Halt "Allowances" Costing Lines $42,000,000 A Year.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The answer of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the application of the railroads east of the Mississippi River for permission to make a general increase of 3 per cent in freight rates, will be as follows:

1. The application will be denied.

2. All railroads will be ordered to discontinue making "allowances" to certain favored big industrial combinations.

This will save the general public from paying the additional $42,000,000 a year which the railroads are asking for and deprive certain big industrial corporations of a sum ranging between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000 annually.

The Commission during the past few months has secretly made an investigation to determine just the extent to which the practice of making "allowances" to industrial short line railroads, owned by manufacturing concerns, is prevalent.

His Name and Facts
It is now in possession of the names of the concerns which receive these "allowances" or rebates, or discriminatory rates—and in addition it has the names of the railroads which pay them, the amounts received by the favored industrial corporations and something of the extent to which the practice endures the competing manufacturers, who are not in a position to enter into such arrangements.

It is a large number of instances, it is claimed, the practice amounts to extortion. The railroads are compelled by the demands of competition to make allowances to the manufacturer for transferring his product over his own insignificant tracks to the junction where the regular railroad takes up his cars. Where several railroads are bidding for the manufacturer's business the one which makes the most liberal allowance is generally the victor.

To End the Extortion.
In view of this fact it is expected that the demand of competition will meet with their approval and co-operation, and will do away with the most important of existing improper practices without the necessity of prosecution.

The railroads are asking for the five per cent increase on the ground that they must have increased revenue to pay their large operating expenses, and particularly, to pay the higher wages demanded by their employees.

The recent demands for higher wages would take $170,000,000.
Can Pay Wage Advances.
Under the order which the Interstate Commerce Commission will issue the railroads will get more than $42,000,000 by simply cutting off the improper expense, and corresponding to the favored trusts and combinations which have been mulcting them of the amount which is deprived of it.

The railroads will be placed in a position to pay their employees the living wage they demand, the danger of a huge strike will be averted, and the whole thing will be accomplished without the shippers and through them the general public being required to pay more for the transportation of the necessities of life.

Sewage Plant To Be Finished by Sept. 1
W. A. Harnett, assistant chief of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has announced that the Sewage Plant, which is to be built at the foot of the city, will be ready for operation by September 1. It will cost $1,000,000.

Pendleton had been engaged to Desie McIntyre for two years, when he met Henrietta Allen, a bridegroom, Ohio belle. He fell a willing conquest and Miss McIntyre was pined, but not without hope. She went quite one better by going to Bridgeport, cutting her hair short, donning the clothes of a modern dressmaker and "cutting out" Pendleton in market fashion. Then she doffed her maid's dress and went to see whether or not Miss Allen has permitted him to resume his courtship.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—Wilbur Martin, the young son of Anderson, B. C., who was killed here recently in a brawl in a restaurant, was worth more than $250,000 in his own right, according to information received here today.

The fascination that the sea held for him and the adventures of a naval career led him to give up the enjoyment of his inheritance in exchange for a life of his own making.

He inherited this fortune when his mother died last March. His relatives at once began to plead with him to give up his adventurous life and settle down in Anderson. The lure of the sea was too great, however, and he disregarded their pleadings and advice.

In despair, his relatives appealed to Washington, but this last hope was without avail.

The Connecticut has been at the League Island Navy Yard several weeks. With the rest of the fleet, Martin was in the habit of coming ashore and visiting the places of interest in the city.

Words led to blows and a general brawl resulted. Suddenly a weapon was drawn and Martin sank to the floor. A nearby witness, who had been called to a nearby hospital, Martin was unconscious and died within a few minutes.

Before her death his mother had argued with him to leave the navy and come home, where he could have every luxury that he desired. His variable reply was that he loved the service too well and would stay in it all his life.

STAND OF U.S. NEUTRAL

Ban Goes On the Shipping of Arms to Either Huerta or His Foes.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Wilson has determined that no action in the present Mexican revolution shall obtain arms or ammunition from the United States and that neutrality must be observed in its strictest sense.

This was the interpretation of the neutrality laws decided upon by the President after conferences with Senator Bacon and Representative Flood, chairman of the two Congressional committees on foreign relations.

While the Mexican rebels have been getting no arms heretofore, these developments may mean that the Huerta administration will be deprived of the privilege previously accorded the Madero Government and the United States will treat all sides alike in the present dispute.

The situation was precipitated by the repeated complaints of constitutionalists and their sympathizers in this country that if the United States did not virtually assist the Huerta government by selling it munitions of war, a termination of hostilities would be possible.

Both Houses Favorable.
Sentiment in favor of a new policy grew in Congress to such an extent that to-day a caucus was made of the committee in both Houses dealing with foreign relations.

It was found there would be little objection to repealing the joint resolution of March 19, 1912, which gave the President discretionary power to prohibit exportations of arms or munitions of war to countries where domestic violence existed, but permits him to allow the legally constituted government of such countries to buy war supplies as usual.

Senator Bacon, however, retreated from the White House that day. Huerta administration could not be considered a legitimate successor of the Madero Government.

The constitutionality representatives here had protested to the State Department that inasmuch as the Huerta government had not been recognized it ought not to obtain arms. This construction of the case found favor in official circles, and the repeal of the resolution of March 19, 1912, was considered by administration officials as one way of equalizing conditions. It was decided that the same purpose could be observed by denying ammunition to all factions.

There nevertheless is a firm feeling in Congress in favor of lifting the embargo on arms and giving both sides an equal opportunity to equip themselves. This sentiment finds favor especially among those who believe that the Carranza rebels have public opinion behind them in Mexico, and if given the arms with which to supply their large unquipped forces, the revolution would end speedily in their favor.

For the present, however, the administration will issue orders to its agents everywhere to keep arms from entering the rebellion-torn country.

HOTEL ELEVATOR HIS SCHOOL OF AVIATION

Robert Pettit, 4, Who Declares He's Going to be "Airship Flyer."

"I Don't Like It," He Says, "But I Must Get Used to Being in the Air."

Robert Pettit, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Frances Pettit, of Denver, spends from six to eight hours every day in the elevator of Hotel Ansley, because he wants to be an aviator.

Robert figures it this way: "I'm going to be an airship flyer when I grow up, and I've got to get used to being off the ground. It is working fine. I can go up to the twelfth floor now without getting dizzy. I'll make a dandy aviator, I'll bet!"

The youngster has become a familiar figure to attendants and guests of the hotel. Every morning, as soon as he can get away from Mrs. Pettit and his nurse, he drags his little chair into the elevator and sits solemnly behind the operator. He manifests great interest in the operation of the lift, and his greatest joy comes when he believes he is operating the car.

"Robert says he is going to have an airship as soon as he is sure he can fly without getting sick."

"I've got a bank at home with four dollars and a dime in it," he said. "I guess that'll get a pretty good airship. If I don't enough, Mama will give me as much more as I need."

"I never talk back to Mama," he said. "He is master of his own house, and I guess I won't be just now."

ATTEMPT TO POSTPONE CASE IS SEEN

Arnold Believed to Be Conferring With Judge Roan Regarding Delay Until Fall.

Jury panels for the trial of the murder of Mary Phagan, were to be drawn by Superior Judge John T. Pendleton Thursday morning, according to all indications. Deputy Sheriff Plennie Miner, who was instructed by Judge L. S. Roan to have the jury drawn Thursday morning unless he received instructions to the contrary, stated that he would take the jury boxes before Judge Pendleton and ask him to draw 144 names—12 panels.

Although Judge Roan had not decided to postpone the trial Thursday morning it was by no means certain that some move in this direction would not be made during the day.

Reuben R. Arnold, Frank's attorney, asked Judge Pendleton to defer drawing the jury until he heard from him Thursday morning after he had conferred with Judge Roan. Attorney Arnold could not be located in the city and it was understood he had gone to Covington, where Judge Roan was holding court, to see that the trial be postponed until the cooler months of fall.

Dorsey Must Be Consulted.
Prosecuting Attorney Hugh M. Dorsey announced he would fight vigorously any move to postpone the trial without first giving him a hearing on the subject.

Thursday morning that there were two rather ruffled chiefs at the police department the previous afternoon when Jim Conley was sneaked from his cell in the station over to the Tower without their permission and without their knowledge.

Chief Lanford said: "This will never happen again."

Chief Beavers would not talk of the incident, but it is understood to have been the two detectives, Starnes and Campbell, that if the negro was taken from the police station again he (Beavers) proposed to be in it.

There was a commotion at police headquarters Wednesday afternoon, when it was found that Conley had been spirited away to confront Neer Lee in the Tower. Chief Lanford knew nothing of the circumstance until he was informed by The Georgian. Even then he insisted that Conley was in his cell.

Then Detectives Explain.
He went to Chief Beavers' office to see if permission had been given for Conley's removal. Beavers said he did not know Conley was gone. The chief, to satisfy himself that Conley was still in custody, made a personal visit to the jail.

Starnes and Campbell, who later were in conference with the chief, they told him that they had had nothing about their intention to take the negro Chief Beavers nor Chief Lanford were in the station at the time.

COPPER STRIKE
DISTRICT

MARQUETTE, Mich., July 24.—James A. Cruise, Sheriff of Houghton County, wired Governor Ferris today asking that 2,000 State troops be sent to the district in which the great copper strike is located.

He says he is unable to cope with the situation because of the wide area. The strike takes in territory 25 miles.

The Sheriff declares the strikers have begun to destroy property and that the lives of men who are not in sympathy with the strike have been threatened.

No violence, however, has been reported.
