U. S. TAKES ITS FINAL STAND ON MEXICO

Lind Leaves for Home as Wilson Frames Decisive Peace Terms. Break Believed Near.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The American proposals to General Huerta, as intimated at the White House today, are the following:

First, a definite armistice.

Second, a free and early election in all parts of the country.

Third, General Huerta is not to be a candidate at this election.

Fourth, both factions must agree to abide by the result.

These fundamental preparations formulated by the United States will not be changed by any developments in Mexico City today. President Wilson has decided to make his stand on them, and while they might be modified in unessential details, their vital features must remain in any negotiations to be conducted further.

The supplementary suggestion spoken of by Secretary Tamm's statement today can not affect the fundamental preparations. Envoy Lind has left Mexico City, as appears in Mexico City news dispatches today. The White House has no information that he has left Mexico City, and is quoted to understand the views of the favorite reply sent by the President to Lind's message of last night, he could have left the Mexican Capital.

The State Department denied that Governor Lind was ordered out of Mexico, and further claimed that the Mexican situation remains unchanged.

It is understood that Governor Lind will leave Vera Cruz on board an American warship, probably the Nez, Hampton, within a short time. There are at present four American battleships at Vera Cruz—the Nez, Hampton, South Carolina, Michigan and Louisiana. One of these will be placed at Governor Lind's disposal, and the other three will remain in Mexican waters to await developments.

President Delays Message.

Information today confirmed reports that all hope of the success of the Lind mission was not lost when he postponed reading his message to Congress until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

If the negotiations continue over a considerable period the message may not go to Congress for some time, if the American proposals are accepted it may be read at all.

The belief that the crisis approached was emphasized by the semi-official announcement of the American proposals made in Houston through Envoy Lind. That the White House may be to indicate their terms coupled with the fact that they were fundamental proposals and would not be changed, was regarded as extremely significant.

Reports are current here that Huerta intends to resign the presidency in favor of Trevino, one of his lieutenants, but to be a candidate for the

Mrs. Godbee, Held As Double Slayer, Blocks Jail Break

MILLEN, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Sarah Perkins Godbee, in jail here charged with the murder of her former husband and his third wife, prevented an escape from the Jenkins County jail here yesterday morning.

A negro was arrested on Saturday night and lodged in the jail. On Monday morning between 2 and 4 o'clock, the negro got out of his cell and was making desperate attempts to bore his way to liberty when the accused woman gave the alarm.

Priest Arrested for Quarrel With Sister

GULFPORT, MISS., Aug. 26.—A domestic spat between his sister and himself is the explanation given by Father A. Kuhn, warden of the Catholic Church at Mississippi City today of his arrest at the place's house.

Neighbors in the vicinity of Father Kuhn's home were aroused by the screams of a woman. They telephoned Deputy Sheriff Frank Duckworth and the county jailer, both of whom responded.

After the arrest of the priest, he was brought to Gulfport, but was shortly released, prominent citizens signing his bond. Today Father Kuhn went to the office of the justice of the peace and made a statement regarding the case. He will be arraigned for trial to-morrow.

Threaten Force in County Seat Fight

GADSDEN, Aug. 26.—At a mass meeting held at Cedar Bluff today resolutions were passed calling upon the people of Cherokee county to assist in an effort to have the County Seat moved from Coover to that place.

Center, a little town on the Coosa river several miles from a railroad, has been the county seat since the organization of the county. Cedar Bluff is a new town on the Southern Railroad. Twenty men left this morning to visit each beat in the county asking them to sign the petitions. A spirited fight will be made and Coover may resist efforts to move the county seat by force if necessary.

Preacher-Banker for Alabama Senate Seat

Foster Father Wins In Fight for Child

GADSDEN, Aug. 26.—Jessie Bell Goodwin, 12 years old, is the object of contention between her foster father, J. A. Goodwin, and her sister, Mrs. Dollie Wynn.

Mrs. West came here yesterday and immediately sued out a writ of habeas corpus. The court granted the writ and ordered that the child be brought into court on August 25 and that Mrs. West show cause why she should not be returned to her foster father.

SPEER PROBE DELAYED IN HOUSE

Republicans Block Clayton's Move to Hasten Investigation of Georgia Judge.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A resolution to investigate the charges against Judge Emory Speer, of Georgia, has introduced in the House today by Chairman Clayton of the Judiciary Committee.

An effort to have it considered immediately failed, on the objection of Minority Leader Mann, and the resolution went over until to-morrow.

In presenting the resolution Mr. Clayton said:

"The committee reached the unanimous conclusion that the charges were of such grave nature that further investigation was warranted. I may say that not only members of the Judiciary Committee, but other members of the House, have given this subject careful attention.

"No member of the committee has had opportunity to talk with the witnesses, and so the committee did not feel like voting to impeach Judge Speer.

Urges Fair Inquiry.

"If Judge Speer is not guilty of the wrongful conduct alleged against him, a committee of the House ought to vindicate him. If it reaches the conclusion that he should be impeached and removed, the House owes it to the people to take this course.

"Several members of the committee have expressed the hope that this judge is not guilty, but we felt it was only fair to the country to bring in this resolution.

Minority Leader Mann said he had never heard of a similar case being started in such a manner, with no one making an actual charge on the floor of the House.

"I doubt the propriety of the House having no charges before it, authorizing a committee to proceed with an investigation," said Mr. Mann. "I have seen no charge in the papers worthy of investigation.

"Does the gentleman think it ought to give out the charges at this point?" asked Mr. Clayton.

"I think the House ought to be informed," said Mr. Mann.

Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, pointed out that some of the most important charges, those made by General Huff, had been thoroughly aired.

Bartlett for Quick Action.

"Justice demands the investigation," said Mr. Bartlett. "You should be careful you should be quick in getting a quick investigation of charges made by respectable citizens. I hope no member will be so unjust to the people of that district as to do anything to impede an investigation."

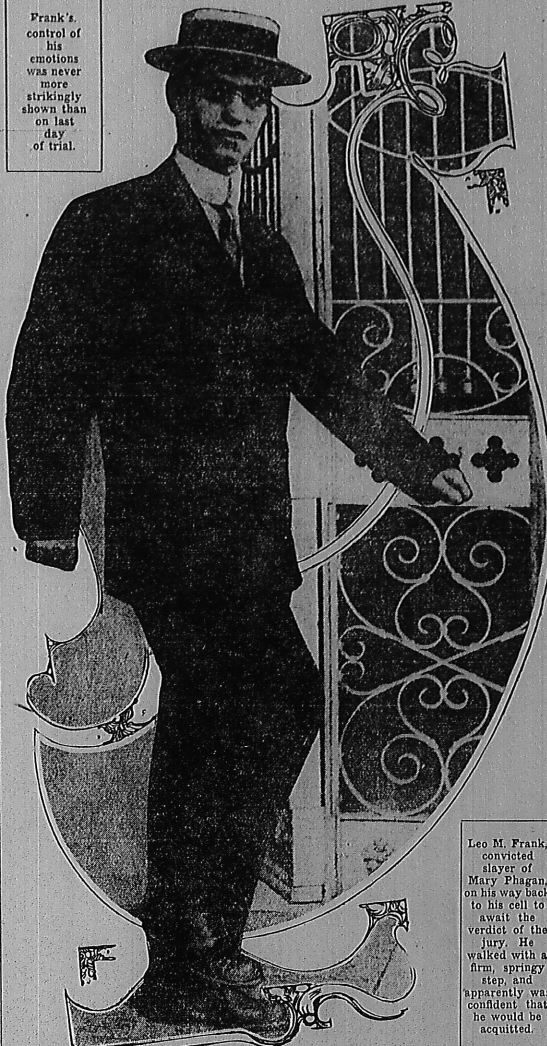

Mr. Mann persists in his objection, and the resolution went over.

The procedure in this case, so far as the resolution for an investigation is concerned, is the same as that in the impeachment proceedings against Judges Swaine, Hanford and Archbold.

The resolution set forth that the charges made against Judge Speer were of such a grave nature that they warranted further investigation, and provided that the Judiciary Committee be authorized to proceed with the inquiry. If the committee finds that further steps are justified, it will recommend the impeachment of Judge Speer, it is declared.

FRANK RETURNING TO HIS CELL IN TOWER AFTER JUDGE'S CHARGE

Frank's control of his emotions was never more strikingly shown than on last day of trial.

Leo M. Frank, convicted slayer of Mary Phagan, on his way back to his cell to await the verdict of the jury. He walked with a firm, springy step and apparently was confident that he would be acquitted.

PRISONER MUST HANG OCT. 10, JUDGE RULES; INNOCENT, HE REPEATS

Almost before the dread verdict of "guilty" had ceased ringing in his ears, Leo M. Frank, convicted of slaying Mary Phagan, heard Tuesday the still more terrible words, "sentenced to hang by the neck until dead," before the echo of his own words, "I am innocent" had died away.

Frank will pay the penalty for the murder of Mary Phagan, which the jury Monday agreed he had committed, on October 10, unless the efforts of his two lawyers, who already have started a new fight for his life, are successful in postponing the execution or ultimately in clearing their client. There is little doubt that the execution will be put off, as an appeal will act as a stay.

Sentence had hardly been pronounced by Judge L. S. Roan at 10:40 o'clock Tuesday morning in his courtroom in the Throver building before Attorney Reuben Arnold was on his feet to make a motion for a new trial.

Judge Roan said that he would set October 4 as the date for hearing the arguments on the motion. It is known that Solicitor Dorsey is most vigorously opposed to any movement looking toward the reopening of the case. He asserted repeatedly during the last days of the trial that the claim of the defense that Frank was not receiving a fair trial was ridiculous on its face.

Frank had hardly begun to speak when he was interrupted by the judge. He said that he was not receiving a fair trial, and that he was innocent.

While the death penalty was being imposed upon the factory superintendent, his young wife sat outside the Throver building in an automobile. She had followed her husband in the car, waiting for him as he was taken into court between two deputies and again following him when he was conveyed back to the Tower.

Frank displayed no more emotion than he did during the progress of the long trial. He, perhaps, was a trifle paler than usual and his face a bit more haggard, but aside from this none would have known as he stepped firmly down from the Throver building steps that he was a man on whom the death sentence had just been pronounced.

The fight for Frank's life, which may consume many months, arouses a question as to the disposal of Jim Conley. It is the general supposition that Conley's case will be held in abeyance until Frank's fate definitely is determined by a new trial or the decision of the appeal to the Supreme Court.

New Lee Released From Custody.

New Lee, material witness in the Frank trial and at one time a suspect, was released from custody Tuesday morning after spending exactly four months in jail.

A long and notable legal fight is certain over the effort to save Frank from paying the penalty fixed by the court. The case will be carried to the highest courts if Judge Roan refuses a new trial.

There was the hush of horror as the dreadful "Hanged by the neck until dead, and may God have mercy on your soul," were uttered by the judge. The signs of Frank's emotion were few as ever. A few minutes later he was asserting, clearly and calmly, his entire innocence.

Frank heard his sentence with but a slight show of nervousness. He stood leaning slightly against the railing in front of the judge's bench looking straight into Judge Roan's eyes. Occasionally he moistened his lips, but otherwise he was calm. His eyes though, were bloodshot and his skin more pronouncedly white than ever before.

Frank Again Protests Innocence.

Judge Roan addressed him:

"The jury which has been trying you for the last several weeks has found you guilty. Have you mercy on your soul," were uttered by the judge. The signs of Frank's emotion were few as ever. A few minutes later he was asserting, clearly and calmly, his entire innocence.

Frank leaped slightly against the railing and placed one hand behind his back before replying. Then he said in a calm, even voice:

"Your Honor, I say now as I have always said: I am innocent."

3 Negro Prisoners Refuse to Leave Jail

EUFAULA, Aug. 26.—Austin Campbell, convicted on two indictments for the murder of the son of a Georgia farmer, and George Hayes, convicted of gambling, escaped from the city jail by drilling their way through the brick wall.

The other negro prisoners refused to leave with them. An individual then forced the run of the corridor on account of the riot.

Continued from Page 1. cent. Further than that, I will state that my case is in the hands of my counsel. The prisoner's voice was so low that for a moment his hearers were not aware that he had finished and a deathly silence reigned. Then Judge Roan spoke: 'Your counsel inform me that they will move for a new trial,' he said, addressing Frank, 'but in the meantime, it is my sworn duty to pass sentence on you. 'I have tried to give you a fair trial. I may have erred, but I have done my duty as my conscience dictated.' Judge Roan then picked up from his desk the sheet of paper upon which his sentence was written. As he did so, through some slight misunderstanding, the crowd arose to its feet. 'Take your seats, take your seats,' said Judge Roan, then read the sentence. In legal form, it was this: 'The State against Leo M. Mr. Arnold will return to Atlanta in time to participate in the argument for a new trial for the final jury superintendent, which has been set for October 6.

'WE ONLY DID OUR DUTY,' SAYS MAN WHO HE PLED CONVICT FRANK DORSEY'S Plea of Great Weight--Only Wondered at Prisoner's Statement

JUROR'S STORY OF HOW HE FOUND DEFENDANT GUILTY AND VERDICT REACHED

The Georgian to-day reveals some of the innermost secrets of the jury which convicted Leo M. Frank of the murder of little Mary Phagan. This inside story of the greatest criminal case in the South's history is an intensely interesting revelation of the workings of men's minds. It covers three long weeks and more throughout which the evidence for and against the pencil factory superintendent was tediously unfolded, link by link.

It casts upon the various points made by the defense and the prosecution the light in which they were viewed by the twelve men who were chosen to act as the judges. It ends with the last memorable meeting of these men on the top floor of the courthouse Monday afternoon, which culminated in the fateful verdict: "We the jury find the defendant guilty."

The information is given here as it was obtained by a reporter for this newspaper from one of the jurors late Monday night while the full weight of his grim burden still rested upon him. It is told in his own, impressive words.

"It was the only thing we could do. The evidence was against Frank from start to finish. And so we did our duty, as we had sworn to do. Dorsey's youth and Sincerity Won.

"It would be hard to say what of all the trial, made the greatest impression on the jury. It was probably the Solicitor General himself. He was a marvel. His youthful appearance, coupled with his clear, ringing voice, made a wonderful hit. There wasn't a minute of the hours that he spoke that he didn't seem to mean every word that he uttered.

"Dorsey is a forceful speaker. He puts emphasis behind his words. And he drives his points clear in and clinches them on the other side. They stuck with us. They had the evidence behind them to make them stick.

"His theory of the murder was the one we accepted. It was the only evidence upheld. That was the way Frank looked that little girl. "While the juror watched down stairs, he felt the girl's back into the metal room and struck her, and then with a cool, unstraggled he to desire. Then those notes were written as the negro told us and placed beside the body.

"His Dorsey's argument there was a little sentence which seemed to imbed itself in the minds of every man on the jury, when he was speaking of the agreement between Frank and Conley that the negro should come back to the factory and bury the body. The sentence was this: "And if the smoke from that little red tin burning body that he carried up into the air, did Conley would have hanged for another man's crime."

Hooper's Action Had Its Effect
"Those words went a long way toward keeping Jim Conley from hanging, probably. They drew a contrast between right and wrong which we look again into the evidence before us. And the narrow escape which the negro had made us shudder.

"There was another thing which impressed that jury. It was Frank Hooper's sacrifice of Dorsey. We called it that. Hooper had the chance of his lifetime there to make a wonderful plea which when he opened the State's argument. We were half-crowded to us. His reputation was known to us. And when he ended there was some disappointment. We said he had not done his best.

"Then we saw his sacrifice. He had only made a plain statement of the State's case and left for the Solicitor General whatever fame and fortune there was to be won by the State's counsel.

"The jury heard none of the cheering for Dorsey outside the courtroom at any time. We were all crowded in the courtroom laugh at times, and we laughed, too, but that had no effect.

"Probably the hardest job we had was to sit there and face Frank Hooper and his wife with the slowly growing feeling of the defendant's guilt. Some of the juror who were Frank's wife broke down following his speech. It was an impressive thing in us. Yet it didn't affect the evidence.

Frank's Speech Caused Wonder
"This trouble with Frank's speech was the same as the trouble with the entire defense. The evidence declared to us that he was guilty, and no words of his could dispute that fact. Everybody felt the weight his wonderful claim, and dispassionate manner carried while he was talking. Yet the marvel was that he didn't make any blunders. That was what we wondered at.

The defense made a wonderful

Trial a Farce, Say Attorneys

L. Z. Rosser and Reuben Arnold, counsel for Leo Frank, issued the following statement this morning: "We deem it not amiss to make a short statement, as the attorneys of Leo M. Frank, to the public.

"The trial which has just occurred, and which has resulted in Mr. Frank's conviction, was a farce and not in any way a trial. In saying this, we do not make the least criticism of Judge Roan who presided. Judge Roan is one of the best men in Georgia, and is an able and conscientious judge.

"The temper of the public mind was such that it invaded the courtroom and pervaded the streets and made itself manifest at every turn the jury made; and it was just as impossible for this jury to escape the effects of this public feeling as if they had been turned loose and had been permitted to mingle with the people.

"In doing this we are making no criticism of the jury. They were only men, and unconsciously this prejudice rendered any other verdict impossible.

"It would have required a jury of stoics, a jury of Spartans, to have withstood this situation. "The time ought to come when this man will get a fair trial, and we profoundly believe that it will.

"The final judgment of the American people is a fair one. It is sometimes delayed in coming, but it comes.

"We entered into this case with the profound conviction of Mr. Frank's innocence. The result has not changed our opinion. Every step of the trial has intensified and fortified our profound conviction of his innocence.

Pierce Loses Pinkerton Job By Actions in Phagan Case

As a result of the charges made by the police of unfair dealings by the Pinkerton operatives in the investigation of the Phagan case, H. H. Pierce, superintendent of the agency in Atlanta, tendered his resignation. It was promptly accepted by A. L. Corwain, general superintendent, of New Orleans, who arrived in the city Monday.

Disabused then, there was but one thing left to do. "While no intimation was given by general superintendent Corwain as to who would be Pierce's successor, it is generally reported that Harry Stout was appointed to fill the position. The report is founded on the withdrawal of Stout's appointment to the superintendency of the Houston, Texas office, which was made shortly before the charges against Pierce were made public. This promotion of Stout was made as a result of his work in the Phagan case investigation, in which he was the field marshal for the Pinkertons.

Mr. Corwain admitted that Stout would stay in Atlanta.

Cordele Cotton Men Fight Tax Ordinance

CORDELE, Aug. 26.—If the threat of local cotton buyers are carried out, this action will practically be without a cotton market for an entire week or more.

"The buyers are angered at the City Council over the passage of an ordinance making their annual license $25 and the license on transient buyers at $1 per day. On the ground that the ordinance had discriminated and that the license of local and transient buyers should be the same, the local cotton buyers have petitioned the City Council to reconsider its action, which was refused.

Senator's Kin Killed In Row Over Saddle

RENO, Nev., Aug. 25.—William Billings, son-in-law of former Senator Plum, of Kansas, was killed on a ranch 100 miles north of Reno, Nev., by Frank Huber. Huber was arrested. Billings took a saddle from Huber's ranch, which was as security for a debt.

CAMMIE SEES JURY PICKED TO TRY HIM

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Drew Cammelli, son of Attorney Cammelli, Commissioner General of Immigration, arrested by four lawyers and comported by his brother, Anthony Cammelli, Jr., an attorney of Sacramento, watched the preliminary steps of his trial as a white slaver before Federal Judge Van Fleet today.

His wife and mother did not appear with Cammelli today. The elder Mr. Cammelli has been ill since the conviction of Maury I. Dicks on the same charge for the slippage to Reno of Cammelli Dicks, Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris.

Dicks, who will be sentenced on September 2, was not in court today to watch the selection of a jury from the list of the regular jury panel.

It was expected by Special Prosecutor Theodore Roche and the assistant, Matt Sullivan, that the jury would be completed by tomorrow evening.

Interest in the Cammelli case apparently exceeds that shown in the case of Dicks. A large crowd of spectators was turned away from the courtroom doors today. Preparations were made by the marshals of the court to guard the entrance when Miss Warrington and Miss Norris take the stand.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The Kaiser has laid his embargo on beer. His favorite drink now is lemonade, with a dash of orange juice, but does not force this beverage upon his guests. The usual wines are served.

He became convinced that being a total abstainer was the only way to keep his mind and body every condition has a chance, and the contest is still going on. # FRANK TO LEAD OWN FIGHT FOR LIFE WILSON'S FINAL WORD, HUERTA MUST ABDICATE

PRESIDENT FORGES MEXICO CRISIS

Washington Anxiously Awaits Effect of U. S. Ultimatum—Lind on His Way Home.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—To-day is considered in diplomatic circles the fateful day in the already strained relations between the United States and Mexico. The American people, representatives of European governments and attaches of South American republics are waiting with increased anxiety the delivery of President Woodrow Wilson's message to Congress on the Mexican situation, postponed from yesterday at the direct request of Envoy John Lind and Foreign Minister Frederico Gamboa. Pending arrival in Washington of President Wilson, in his message to Congress, will demand the abdication of Victoriano Huerta, who seized the reins of government in Mexico at the time of the Madero overthrow.

The original American note delivered to Minister Gamboa by Envoy Lind demanded an armistice, an early election, the abdication of Huerta and his pledge not to be a candidate in the election. While Envoy Lind's message failed, it is not believed President Wilson will recede from his position.

Backed by Other Nations. In view of the fact that his proposals have the backing of the civilized governments of the world, it would not be surprising if, in his message to Congress, he couched his demands in even stronger terms than those employed by Envoy Lind.

President Wilson's implacable attitude toward Huerta, coupled with the well-known desire to accomplish his objects without bloodshed, has given rise to widespread speculation as to what will follow the delivery of his message to Congress.

Envoy Lind is at Vera Cruz, having traveled in an official day coach. There he is still exchanging views with Foreign Minister Gamboa, but it is said in official circles these exchanges will not alter the situation.

William Bayneard Hale, President Wilson's other private representative in Mexico, is scheduled to leave for the United States today.

Troops Recruited and Drilled. Despite peace messages from Mexico and conciliatory interviews continually given out by Foreign Minister Gamboa, the fact remains that the Mexican Government and its position have been ordered to reorganize and drill all able bodied men in the Republic and report the combined strength to the Mexican Capital.

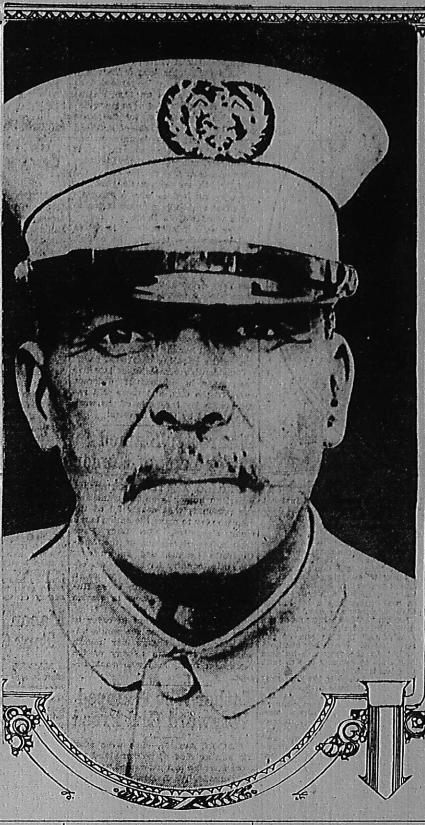

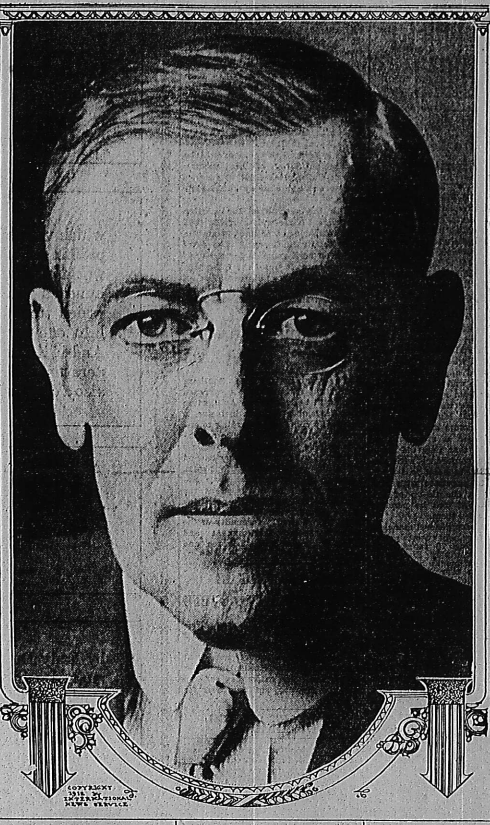

The official reason advanced that these troops are to be used to quell the Mexican independence day celebration September 15 is given little credence here.

CAMINETTI HIT BY JURY RULING

Judge Forces Attorneys for Alleged Slaver to Change Tactics in Revealing Defense.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—It was seen in the questioning of prospective jurors today that the defense of Drew Caminetti will be that he did not have any criminal intent when he eloped to Reno, Nev., from Sacramento with Lela Norris, the high school girl.

The woman directly connected with the white slavery case against Caminetti did not attend today's session of the trial. None of Caminetti's relatives, except his brother, Anthony Caminetti, Jr., of Sacramento, attorney, was in the courtroom.

John D. Plays Golf With 2 Deaf Mutes

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Aug. 27.—John D. Rockefeller cut loose from his sedentary habits to-day and entertained at golf two young men he did not know and had seen but once before in his life.

The young men were Charles D. Russell, of La Salle, Ill., son of the Western Union, and Horace W. Bush, Jr., of Chicago, delegates to the National Association of the Deaf now in session here.

They have the greatest admiration for the world for these young men, he declared, "their inability to hear and speak has not prevented their becoming good, intelligent men."

Bad 'Boy' of 63 Is Forced by Father To Sign the Pledge

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The sad story of an old man who has been placed on police court records, William H. Palmer, Jr., 63, is his name. He is a rollicking rake of 63, and his father, William H. Sr., who is 85, called on the police to check William's industry in the morning of wild oats. Said the father to Judge Shabaz.

"I think he would stop rowing wild oats. He drinks a great deal. He comes home and acts like a young colt. I find it difficult to control him. You can see for yourself that he must be hard for me to manage. He weighs 240 pounds, while I weigh only 85. He is out every night, counting, calling on women and I can't do anything with him."

"I tell him hell rain his constitution if he keeps on the way he is going. He always has been a wild, headstrong boy. I want you, Judge, to help me make a man of him. He's not so sign the pledge."

Willard Exonerated by Coroner's Jury

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—After several hours of deliberation over the testimony presented by witnesses at last Friday's fight at Vernon between Jess Willard and "Bully" Young, which resulted in the death of the latter, the Coroner's Jury returned a verdict exonerating Willard.

Several physicians who attended Young after the fatal blow was delivered testified that the Wyoming fighter's physical condition was bad and that Young had a cigarette habit, and that he was suffering from an affection which had robbed him of stamina which he may have formerly possessed.

The verdict of the Coroner's Jury will have no bearing upon the prosecution of Willard, McCarty and the others charged with manslaughter according to a statement of Prosecutor W. V. Ford after the inquest.

IMMODEST DRESS SCORED BY HEFLIN

Congressman Looks to Women Who Combat Extreme Styles for Nation's Strength.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Women who shun the immodesty and inappropriateness of present-day fashions can be relied upon for the future strength and prosperity of the nation, according to Congressman Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama. Hefflin expressed this opinion in a vigorous feminine drapery add the all-shirt dress as follows:

"I would paraphrase the Scripture, 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' But say, 'By their dress, or lack of dress, ye shall know them.' The exuberant of lustful fashion through immodesty dress is plowing havoc with a certain law of women in this country and setting a bad example for others."

DORSEY UNDECIDED ON ACTION AGAINST NEGRO CONLEY AS ACCESSORY

In the desperate battle that has been started for the life of Leo M. Frank, settled Tuesday to hang October 10 for the slaying of Mary Phagan, the two brilliant legal generals, Luther Rosser and Reuben Arnold, will have in active control when they convicted man himself.

Solicitor Dorsey, asked Wednesday when he probably would ask for the indictment of Jim Conley as an accessory after the fact, said that he knew of no reason why it should not be done at once on the convening of the Grand Jury.

He added, however, that he had made no decision on the matter, and that the indictment might be asked when the Grand Jury sits this week or the indictment might be allowed to hold over for some time. The Solicitor had every confidence that the verdict of the jury in Frank's case would be upheld.

Frank told friends Wednesday that he was planning to have a large part in the conduct of the fight to obtain a reversal of the verdict of last Monday afternoon. Frank rendered his attorneys assistance during the preparation of his case for presentation at the trial which has just ended, but all of the decisions of any consequence were left to them.

The convicted man followed every move of Rosser and Arnold, as well as of Solicitor Dorsey, with an unceasing vigilance and with a thorough comprehension of the purpose involved. Friends say he feels that he is competent to have a part in the mapping out of the future campaign for the life and liberty, and expects to have a considerable voice in the life that is at stake, and he is convinced that he has obtained a sufficient knowledge of legal procedure at least to advise and suggest and, at times, direct as to what shall be done.

October Jewish Sacred Day. That he is not without tactical ability in a law court was demonstrated by his appeal to the jury.

An impressive coincidence in the sentencing of Leo Frank to hang on October 10 is that till the most deeply sacred days of all Frank's religion—the Day of Atonement. It is the day for confession of sins. It is a day for the confession of sins, and it is a day for the confession of sins, and it is a day for the confession of sins.

While Thaw laboriously talked in various subjects which concerned him, representatives of the Dominion Government were stationed six members of the Canadian police about the jail to act as guards and as a escort. Thaw either when he was ordered produced in the court house or else started for the border. In addition to these six uniformed and armed officers of the law, five representatives of the Department of Immigration and four Canadian secret service men are on the ground.

Mr. Raymond P. O. Krieb, superintendent of the Matineau, N.Y., asylum for the criminal insane, from which Thaw escaped, has joined the forces which are fighting to get the fugitive back into that institution. Thaw's counsel is confronted by a formidable array.

Mr. Jerome, Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy, of New York State, Samuel Jacobs, of Alport, representing New York State District Attorney M. A. Clegg, of District County, New York, in which Matineau is situated, and others are cooperating with the Canadian legal representatives.

When Thaw looked out from his cell and saw a jury of drooping fellows the facts as was announced, but this did not interfere with his literary labors.

Frank Attacks Solicitor Dorsey's Arraignment

DORSEY'S SPEECH CALLED UNFAIR

Prisoner Prepares Statement to Combat What He Terms Distortion of Facts.

"Dorsey's speech was an full of holes as a steel. If I could have had just one hour to reply to his eight-hour address, I am confident I could have shown the jury that I was an innocent man and that the Solicitor was misrepresenting the facts in order to obtain a conviction."

"I am preparing a statement in reply to his argument to the jury. I propose to make public, if my lawyer says it is advisable, in it I will point out exactly how the Solicitor warped the testimony and the facts to suit his own convenience. I know that these misstatements of his had their influence with the jury and that is why I am rebelling against the unfairness of the situation."

Frank Still Optimistic.

Frank, according to his friends, was as optimistic as ever Wednesday in regard to the ultimate outcome of his case, but was somewhat downcast over the wave of sentiment against him. He said he could not understand how people could be so certain of his guilt when the testimony was circumstantial in the extreme, except for that of Conley, who was an admitted liar and perjurer.

Bad 'Boy' of 63 Is Forced By Father To Sign the Pledge

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The sad story of an erring son has been placed on police court records. William H. Palmer, Jr., is his name. He is a polioing rake of 41, and his father, William H. Sr., who is 85, called on the police to check William's industry in the selling of wild cats. Said the father to Judge Sabath:

"I think he should stop selling wild cats. He drinks a great deal. He comes home and acts like a young colt. I find it difficult to control him. You can see for yourself that he must be hard for me to manage. He weighs 250 pounds, while I weigh only 95. He is out every night carousing, calling on women and I can't do anything with him."

"I tell him he'll ruin his constitution if he keeps on the way he's going. He always has been a wild, headstrong boy. I want you, Judge, to help me make a man of him. He's got to sign the pledge."

"I agree with you," said the Court, addressing the father. "William is getting to be a big fellow now. It's time he learned to behave himself. I'll give him just one minute to sign the pledge."

Lion on Operating Table at Grady to Have Broken Leg Set

A 3-month-old lion cub is the most unusual patient ever treated at the Grady Hospital. It was placed on the operating table for a broken foreleg. Surgeons at Grady set the bones and placed the leg in a plaster cast. The treatment accorded the animal was as carefully given as though it had been a human.

The cub was born at Grant Park. The manner in which it was injured is not known, but it is believed that the bone had not sufficiently hardened to uphold the weight of the animal's body.

EUPLAVIA, Aug. 27.—The first appearance of the boll weevil in Georgia has been reported by Walter Green and P. M. Gay, Quitman County farmers, who have big plantations across the Chattahoochee River from this city. The weevil has been found in different spots and is spreading fast.

Green and Gay are sending specimens to both the Georgia and Alabama Entomological Departments. The weevil was not expected here until next year.

SPEER PROBE ORDERED ON 20 COUNTS

House Votes for Judiciary Committee to Investigate Record of Georgia Judge.

By HUGH MILLER.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—After Chairman Clayton of the Judiciary Committee, had made public a synopsis of the charges against United States Judge Emory Speer, of the Southern District of Georgia, the House to-day passed the resolution he had introduced yesterday, authorizing the Judiciary Committee to proceed with an investigation to determine whether impeachment proceedings should or should not be instituted against the judge.

The resolution was passed just a few minutes before President Wilson appeared before the joint session to read his message on Mexico. Just as soon as the House convened Chairman Clayton asked unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution and it was at once taken up at the point it was left off yesterday.

Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, introduced a short special resolution pointing out principally that Judge Speer had written to the Judiciary Committee that he was innocent of the charges and demanding that an investigation be made. The galleries were rapidly filling with visitors who wanted to see and hear President Wilson, and the noise and confusion soon so great that few could hear Mr. Nelson. When he concluded he received scattering applause.

Clayton Reads Charges.
Chairman Clayton then arose. "Mr. Speaker," he said, "in view of the publicity given these charges and the fact that the record is being made, I shall now proceed to read a synopsis of the charges made against Judge Speer, which have been under consideration by the Judiciary Committee."

Chairman Clayton proceeded to read the charges.

"In addition," he said, "we have many affidavits and photographs of documents. Altogether the record is very bulky. I hold it in my hand now, that the members of the House may see it."

Chairman Clayton held up a large package, containing apparently hundreds of pages of records.

"The committee has decided that beyond the statement already given to the House nothing further shall be disclosed in the case until the investigation is taken up," he said.

Involves Son in Law.

The twenty charges read by Chairman Clayton were as follows:

"Violation of section 47 of the Judicial code, in allowing his son-in-law, A. H. Hayward, to be appointed to and employed in offices and duties in his court."

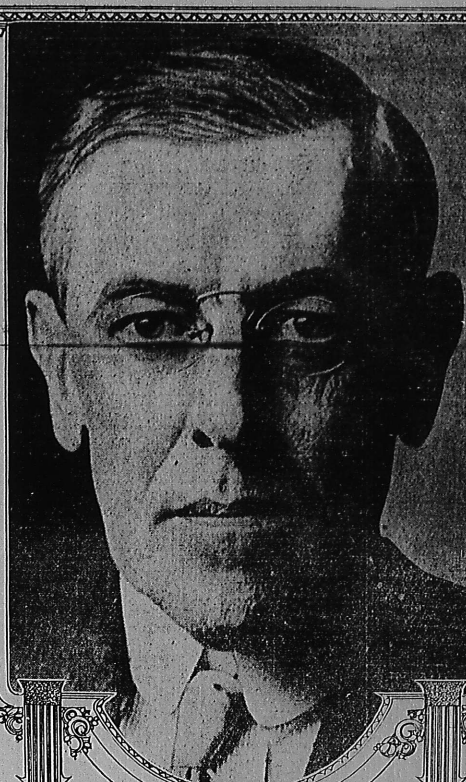

"Violation of the bankruptcy act in allowing compensation in excess of the provision of that act to a trustee, who was his personal friend."

"Violation of the laws in drawing fees in the case until he had been appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States."

"Oppressive and corrupt use of his official position in deciding cases unjustly in favor of his son-in-law."

"Fraud and corrupt conduct in the case of the estate of the late John Van Ness, who was his personal friend, and in which he was appointed executor."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—It was seen in the questioning of prospective jurors today that the defense of E. Dress Caminetti will be that he did not have any criminal intent when he sloped to Reno, Nev., from Sacramento with Lela Norris, the night school girl.

Woodward, questioning Caminetti, pressed his questions on the point until Federal Judge Van Ness ordered him to stop another line of questioning.

The women directly connected with the while slavers case against Caminetti, except his brother, Anthony Caminetti, Jr., of Sacramento, attorney, was in the courtroom.

Judge Van Ness was anxious to get the matter over as soon as possible, and it was expected that the slavers for each side would have the case of selecting a jury, but the twelve men who were designated by the court to try the case were not ready to be sworn in until the afternoon.

SITUATION CRITICAL, SAYS PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE; FORBEARANCE IS URGED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Emphasizing the fact that the United States must remain the firm friend of the people of Mexico in their present stress and trouble, President Wilson to-day read his long awaited message on Mexican affairs to Congress.

The message was distinctly pacific in tone and contains little in the way of recommendation for future policy except the single one that this Government must urge earnestly that all Americans should leave Mexico at once and that the United States should assist them to get out of Mexico in every way possible.

The President counsels delay before further action is taken and says: "In addition, on our part would be childish and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. The door is not closed against the resumption, either upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly cooperative action, should fortunate occasion offer."

"So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only await the time of their awakening to a realization to the actual facts. We can not thrust our good offices upon them. The situation must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances, and I believe that only a little while will be necessary. The circumstances are new. The rejection of our friendship makes them new and will inevitably bring its own alterations in the whole aspect of affairs. The actual situation of the authorities at Mexico City will presently be revealed."

President Wilson's message is unexpectedly brief and closes with the statement that several of the great Governments of the world have given the United States their generous moral support in urging on the provisional authorities at Mexico City the acceptance of our proffered good offices in the spirit in which they were made. The President relates the circumstances leading up to the Lind mission and all the facts in connection with it.

The message follows:

Gentlemen of the Congress—It is clearly my duty to lay before you very fully and without reservation the fact concerning our present relations with the republic of Mexico. The deplorable posture of affairs in Mexico I need not repeat to you. It is my duty to speak very frankly of what the Government has done and should seek to do in fulfillment of its obligation to Mexico herself, as a friend and neighbor, and to American citizens whose lives and vital interests are daily affected by the distressing conditions which now obtain beyond our southern border.

"These conditions touch us very nearly. Not merely because they lie at our very doors. That of course makes us more vividly and more constantly conscious of them, and overhauling of neighboring interest and sympathy is aroused and quickened by them; but that is only one element in the dilemma which our duty as a nation imposes upon us. We are glad to call ourselves the friends of Mexico, and we shall, I trust, continue to be so. The peace, prosperity and contentment of Mexico mean more, much more, to us than merely an enlarged field for our commerce and enterprise. They mean an enlargement of the field of self-government, and the realization of the hopes and rights of a nation with whose best aspirations, too long suppressed and disappointed, we deeply sympathize. We shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves."

"But we are not the only friends of Mexico. The whole world desires her peace and progress, and the whole world is interested as never before in the fate of Mexico. The people of Central America, as for all the States of Central America, but the best gift can come to her only if she be ready and free to receive them and to enjoy them honestly."

"America, in particular—America, North and South and upon both continents—waits upon the development of Mexico and that development can be produced and lasting only if it be the product of a genuine freedom, a just and ordered government, a rapid up-

CRAWFORD CASE AWAITS END OF FRANK FIGHT

Lawyers Want Rest Before Defending Woman Accused of Poisoning Rich Husband.

Postponed four weeks ago until after the close of the trial of Leo Frank, it is probable that the reopening of the famous Crawford case, in which Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford is charged with poisoning her husband, Joshua B. Crawford, will again be delayed until after the hearing of the arguments for a new Frank trial on October 4.

Colonel J. S. James, one of the attorneys for the heirs at law in the Crawford case, stated Wednesday morning he did not expect the case to be reopened until the Frank case was definitely settled one way or the other. He will confer with Attorney Rosen Wednesday afternoon on Thursday morning, and it is probable that some agreement will be reached regarding the reopening of the case.

It is known that Rosen and Mr. Arnold favor delaying the Crawford case for several weeks. It is not until the final disposition of the Frank case, Colonel James met Mr. Arnold several days ago, and during a conversation about the reopening of the case, Mr. Arnold remarked that he would dislike to resume within three weeks after the closing of the Frank trial, as he desired to get a much needed rest. Mr. Arnold left the city Tuesday night for a month's vacation, and it is probable that he will leave shortly also for a vacation. Colonel Anderson, the auditor, is also out of the city, but will return Saturday.

While many of the attorneys on either side have been busy with the Frank trial, the search for Fred Lamb, the New York barber, who, it is charged, was an accomplice in Mrs. Crawford's plot to poison her husband, has continued without success. Colonel James has given a great deal of time to the apprehension of Lamb, and particularly the entire East has been scourged for a much acting under his orders. New York detectives and detectives of the Eastern circuit have thrown their dragnet out, but have been unable to trace whatever of the barber.

HELD FOR DOYS DEATH. COLLEGE. Fred Ritz, a Georgia chauffeur of David Reisch, a Jacksonville automobile dealer, who shot and killed his employer, Albert Willis, who was driving a Buick, was bound over to the Superior Court on a charge of manslaughter.

EVELYN THAW'S CAREER IS LESSON TO AMERICAN GIRLS

By DOROTHY DIX.

Does it pay to be good? Tens of thousands of poor girls avid for pleasure, longing to ride in luxurious automobiles and feast on dainty food in gay restaurants, madly anxious for the lovely clothes that would enhance their charms, are daily selling off a picture, an article, or a talent for the sake of a few dollars.

The know that, like the milkmaid in the old song, their faces are their fortune, and that beauty and youth are assets that a woman can cash in at any time. The streets of every big city are the Mount of Temptation upon which the Devil takes every poor, pretty little girl, and shows her a picture of the life she can lead if she will. He shows her a picture of the life she can lead if she will. He shows her a picture of the life she can lead if she will.

Porter says he considers the case of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who was born on a Christmas Day in Allegheny, a suburb of Pittsburgh. Her father was a successful business man, and she was one of the most beautiful girls in the city. She was married to a man who was a successful business man, and she was one of the most beautiful girls in the city.

It is known that Rosen and Mr. Arnold favor delaying the Crawford case for several weeks. It is not until the final disposition of the Frank case, Colonel James met Mr. Arnold several days ago, and during a conversation about the reopening of the case, Mr. Arnold remarked that he would dislike to resume within three weeks after the closing of the Frank trial, as he desired to get a much needed rest.

While many of the attorneys on either side have been busy with the Frank trial, the search for Fred Lamb, the New York barber, who, it is charged, was an accomplice in Mrs. Crawford's plot to poison her husband, has continued without success. Colonel James has given a great deal of time to the apprehension of Lamb, and particularly the entire East has been scourged for a much acting under his orders.

Devoid of Talent, Evelyn Thaw Capitalizes Sins

No other woman has ever capitalized her sins at such a figure as Mrs. Thaw has done. In all her life she has done no noble or worthy act. From her very childhood she has passed from scandal to scandal. Her once great beauty is gone. She has no talent. Yet thousands of people pay nightly to see her do a foolish little dance that any debutante could do as well in three lessons. There is simply nothing to her but the dark aura of her past.

But after her little dance, when she waved her hands to the audience, whose eyes had been as hard and cold as daggers stabbing at her, I wondered if she thought it paid. I wondered if she thought she had paid too dearly for all she had had and all she was getting, when she knew that every woman in the house would draw her skirts away from her, and every man would rather see his own daughter dead in her coffin than to be winning such a success in such a way.

Believe me, she and women like her KNOW whether it pays to be good. Be sure that she has paid for all the leaves and fishes she has gotten. Evil collects its debt inexorably. No one, least of all a woman, is so thick-skinned as to be impervious to the scorn of her fellow creatures. Evelyn Thaw has had that in full measure, and under it and the life it has driven her to she has hardened and hardened.

She who had not had carriage, rode in cabs and taxis everywhere. She who had not always had even bread to eat feasted at the smartest restaurants. She who had worn the shabbiest of shabby clothes had fine gowns and jewels lavished on her.

It is known that Rosen and Mr. Arnold favor delaying the Crawford case for several weeks. It is not until the final disposition of the Frank case, Colonel James met Mr. Arnold several days ago, and during a conversation about the reopening of the case, Mr. Arnold remarked that he would dislike to resume within three weeks after the closing of the Frank trial, as he desired to get a much needed rest.

BITTERLY IDEA RULES IN NEW FASHIONS

Full Blouses to Imitate Wings, X-Ray Skirts to Continue Popular, but With Flourishes

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Aug. 27.—The butterfly idea dominates the coming styles. Having forewarned the use of legs, women will cultivate wings, Evelyn, the very of the leading dressmaking establishments indicates the following autumnal instaurations: These will be small and round, like the butterfly's head. Blouses and jackets will be extremely full and loose at the back and shoulders, suggesting wings. The jackets will be full, but not drawn in at the waist.

Some gowns will be ornamental at the back with large butterflies of dove of silk set just below the waist. Evening gowns will be lower than ever. They will be open to the waist behind, but very wide and loose over the shoulders. Diaphanous over pink tights will continue popular, but flounce will be especially so far as the knees. The color of suits will be less bright.

That this story was not true does not alter her status. She had never read before the world as shameless before as she had been. She had never read before the world as shameless before as she had been. She had never read before the world as shameless before as she had been.

FORBEARANCE WITH MEXICO URGED BY PRESIDENT WILSON IN MESSAGE

Armistice Impossible, Huerta Elected Head of Mexico Legally, Gamboa Says

In his reply to the American proposals... That President Wilson's imputation that no progress is being made toward the restoration of peace in Mexico is not true... That the fact that the Mexican Government enjoys the recognition of nearly all the great nations of the world is proof that it is a true and honorable administration.

Continued from Page 1. That the American proposals are 'humiliating and unusual.' That Mexico's Ambassador should be received in Washington and that the United States should send a new Ambassador to Mexico.

Their claim, in fact, their success in the field have proved only temporary. War and disorder, devastation and confusion, seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the Mexican country.

Instructions to Lind. Press very earnestly upon the attention of those who are now exercising authority or wielding influence in Mexico the following consideration and advice: The Government of the United States does not feel that liberty and justice for all men are being maintained in that country.

Must Wait for Awakening. The fact of this unfortunate misunderstanding on their part is to be regretted, but it is not to be held against them. So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only wait the time of their awakening to the facts of the situation.

Only Settlement Wanted. The political situation in Mexico is inseparable with the fulfillment of international obligations on the part of Mexico with the civilized development of Mexico herself and with the maintenance of tolerable political and economic conditions in Central America. It is no common opinion, therefore, that the United States offers her counsel and assistance in all America crises out for settlement.

GAMBOA'S REPLY, REFUSING U. S. PEACE OFFER

Neither National Dignity Nor Satisfaction Permits Interference, He Says in Effect.

The following is the reply of Senor Gamboa to the proposals of the American Government conveyed through Hon. John Lind, as transmitted to Congress to-day by the President.

First, because Mexico enters the highest respect for the personality of his excellency Woodrow Wilson.

Second, because certain European and American governments, with which Mexico cultivates the closest relations of international amity, have made use of their good offices to the end that Mexico should accord a hearing inasmuch as you were the bearer of a private mission.

Third, because Mexico was anxious to demonstrate in every way the justice of its position.

Fourth, because Mexico is willing to act in the most disinterested friendship, it is the United States to act as Mexico's nearest friends.

Can Not Consider Conditions. Mexico can only consider the moment that she is in consideration of the conditions which her great love Mr. Wilson has been pleased to propose for the peace of Mexico.

JURY SERVICE CALLED SUPREME LOVE TEST

MRS. F. V. L. SMITH.

Frank Trial 'Temporary Widow and Husband Happily Reunited.'

If you are not sure whether you love your husband, let him serve on a jury for four weeks--then you'll know.

Mrs. Frederick V. L. Smith, of No. 411 Cherokee avenue, said it--and she's right. It was a happy sign for Mr. Smith, his face wreathed in smiles.

Not 24 hours before they had been reunited after Mr. Smith had been stranger to every place except on the sidewalk walk from business fully a year earlier than usual.

Let him pass you two or three times a day, and you will be allowed to speak to him--only to look and wave a handkerchief. Let those old deputy sheriffs stop him when he keeps to say hello, and caution you to be quiet when you start to ask him if he is being taken care of, if he gets enough to eat and if his clothing needs mending--why, I don't see how you can help making a vow never to speak a cross word to him.
